Home destroyed by fire

Only a three legged table and a child's rocking horse were saved from the C. L. Lane home as fire destroyed the five- room, frame home one half mile west of Blodgett on Route U early today. No one was at home at the time of the fire. Fire crews from Sikeston, Morley and Miner were unable to save the house.

Fire destroys frame house near Blodgett

BLODGETT— Firemen from Sikeston, Miner and Morley fought a fire this morning which destroyed the C. L. Lane home on Route U, just west of the Interstate 55 overpass.

Firemen were unable to save the old five- room, frame house, but kept the fire from spreading to a barn and tool shed.

Fire Chief Larry Linnemeyer said neither Mr. and Mrs. Lane, nor their six children were at home when the fire started shortly before 9 a.m.

The cause of the fire was unknown.

At 1:50 p.m. Saturday firemen were called to the Earl Cook home, 404 Prosperity, when a candle caught a cabinet on fire in the bathroom, Firemen said there was slight damage to the bathroom.

At 7:50 p.m. Saturday garbage caught fire in a large metal trash container in the alley behind Moore's Ace Hardware, 118 N. New Madrid. Firemen said there was minor damage to the container.

They said the fire may have been caused by a discarded cigarette.

Nixon pardon draws protests

PITTSBURGH, Pa. (AP) — President Ford today encountered the first signs of public protest over his unconditional pardon of Richard M. Nixon, a surprise move that pushed his young administraton into the backwash of Watergate,

"The honeymoon is over," one sign proclaimed in red letters as Ford arrived at a downtown hotel for a speech to an urban transportation conference.

More than a dozen signs protesting the Nixon pardon were sprinkled through a crowd of more than 500 persons who waited on the sidewalk for Ford's arrival.

Several of the signs demanded amnesty for Vietnam draft resisters and Nixon top aides.

"There is law, no justice. Pardon all criminals," said one sign. "No pardon, Nixon trial first," said another, and one said: "Okay Jerry, now pardon war resisters."

Newsmen a few feet from Ford heard no booing or catcalls as the President shook hands with those along the rope barriers. The crowd applauded as he passed.

Presidential advisers in Washington were assessing the probable political damage from Ford's disclosure of a "free, full and absolute" pardon for Nixon for any criminal conduct during his presidency.

The pardon was followed within minutes by a Nixon statement of remorse at "my mistakes over Watergate."

And, in the ensuing hours, there were these major disclosures and developments:

—Jerald F. terHorst, a close Ford friend and adviser, quit as White House press secretary, saying "mercy, like justice, must ... be even-handed" and "I couldn't in good conscience support the President's decision ... even though I knew he took that action in good conscience."

—Many Democrats and some Republicans in Congress voiced dismay at the pardon, contending it set a double standard of justice. But other Republicans, including Vice President designate Nelson A. Rockefeller, hailed it as an act of compassion and courage.

—Lawyers for former Nixon aides and associates began reshaping their strategy for the Watergate cover-up trial, and at least one defendant, H.R. Haldeman, planned new efforts to delay the trial now set to begin Sept. 30.

—Ford aides made public an agreement they had reached with Nixon to preserve his White House files for at least three years for possible court use. But the agreement allows the former president to destroy any White House tape recordings after September 1979.

Although Ford's announcement caught the capital and the country by surprise, sources said it had been preceded by 10 days of legal deliberations and negotiations with Nixon and special Watergate prosecutor Leon Jaworski.

Doctor sought in death of his former wife

KENNETT, Mo.(AP)—Dr. Norman Garrison Jr., of Corinth, Miss., has been charged with first-degree murder in the slaying of his exwife, Lee Ann Garrison, 32, police said.

Mrs. Garrison's bloodstained body was discovered early Sunday in her fashionable Kennett home by her 13 - year - old daughter, Kim.

An autopsy showed she had been beaten with a blunt instrument then shot once in the head. Her body, clad only in a nightgown, was found in the bedroom.

Garrison, now in Mississippi, was charged with murder late Sunday night in a warrant issued by Dunklin County Prosecuting Attorney Charles Baker, but has not yet been served.

The Garrisons were divorced in June and their three children had been living with their father.

Garrison was facing contempt of court charges in Dunklin County for nonpayment of alimony and failing to return the children to Mrs. Garrison in July as required by the divorce ruling.

Attorneys for Mrs. Garrison had been preparing similar charges against Garrison in Mississippi since he could not be extradited to Missouri to stand trial. Mrs. Garrison had been awarded $100,000 in alimony by the divorce court.

Lancaster is deputy clerk

Lynn Lancaster, 27, has been appointed deputy city clerk, effective Oct. 1, City Manager Charles Church said today.

Lancaster will work under City Clerk John Vaughn, and is expected to replade Vaughn following his retirement which has been announced for Jan. 1.

Lancaster is currently assistant director of health planning for the Bootheel Regional Planning Commission at Malden.

A graduate of Sikeston High School, he graduated from Southeast Missouri State University at Cape Girardeau in 1968.

Prior to joining the BRPC, he owned a franchise restaurant.

Lancaster is married and has a 3-year- old son. The family lives on Linda Drive.

Port district draft to be submitted

CAPE GIRARDEAU-- The final draft of a cooperative agreement between Cape Girardeau and Scott counties creating a Southeast Missouri Regional Port District will be submitted Sept. 16 to the subcommittee of the two-county port authority advisory committee.

A tentative agreement was accepted Thursday by a six- member subcommittee at a meeting in the Chamber of Commerce building.

Approval of the agreement is one of several steps necessary in requesting state Department of Transportation approval for forming a regional port authority in Cape Girardeau.

Upon approval of the draft, the agreement must be adopted by the County Courts of both counties, which would then appoint members to the regional port authority.

The subcommittee specified that each County Court be allowed to appoint four members for staggered terms of one, two, three and four years. The eight-member port authority board would then select a ninth member to serve a four- year term and to serve as chairman. He could either be selected from within the original eight members or from outside the board, and as chairman, would be authorized to vote only in cases of tie votes.

The only qualification for members, other than those outlined in the port authority law, is that they be residents of the county they would represent.

The agreement states that the counties "agree to and pledge each other faithful cooperation in the future planning and development of a regional port district, holding high trust for the benefit of its people and of the state...especially blessings and natural advantages thereof.

"The counties will cooperate to promote the general welfare, to encourage private capital investment, to endeavor to increase the volume of commerce, and to promote the establishment of a free trade zone within the regional port district," it states.

A. J. Seier, Cape Girardeau County prosecuting attorney said he spent most of the Labor Day weekend preparing the proposal and found it difficult because..." "You are breaking new ground here." He said "it had to be prepared from scratch because, frankly, I could find no reference to any previous agreement whereby counties have co- operated to this extent before."

The agreement contains a list of 19 powers designated to the port authority. These powers were taken directly from the port authority law, he noted. It also specified that the authority be given any additional powers that shall be jointly conferred upon it by the two County Courts or by the Missouri Legislature.

The agreement is one of six major steps necessary in submitting application for a port authority to the DOT.

In addition, each County Court is required to adopt a resolution forming a port authority and appointment members to respective county port authorities, which Scott County has already done. The Cape County Court received a copy Thursday of a proposed resolution prepared by Seier, but tabled action on it until today, pending the outcome

2 die in traffic

An elderly Campbell man was killed in an auto- train collision, a young Campbell man was killed in a motorcycle accident and 11 persons suffered injuries in eight area traffic accidents which occurred over the weekend, the highway patrol announced today.

James Edward Langdon, 80, of Campbell Route Two was killed at 1 p.m. Saturday when a westbound train struck the right side of his northbound car as it crossed the railroad track on Locust Street in Campbell.

The highway patrol said the car was knocked clear of the tracks on the north side of the road and that four other vehicles were damaged by falling objects. No other injuries were reported, however.

Langdon's body was taken to the Hoggard Funeral Home in Piggott, Ark.

Ronald Petry, 22, of Campbell died at 8:05 p.m. Friday at Lucy Lee Hospital in Poplar Bluff of injuries sustained in a motorcycle accident at 6:50 p.m. Friday on Route HH in Campbell.

Petry's body was taken to Landess Funeral Home in Campbell.

Three persons were seriously injured and three suffered minor injuries in an accident at 6:15 p.m. Saturday on a township road three miles south of Kennett.

The accident occurred when a northbound car driven by David Gaulden, 20, of Rector Ark., crossed the center line on a curve and collided head on with a pickup truck driven south by Marily Sue Davis, 24, of Kennett, who received minor injuries.

Gaulden suffered serious injuries, as did a passenger in his car, Kelly Jean Breslin, 6, of Kennett, and one passenger in the Davis truck, Reggie Mabel Jr., 19, of Kennett.

Also injured in the Davis vehicle were Ronald Keith Bradshaw, 19, and William Potts, 20, of Kennett, who received minor injuries.

All of the injured were taken to Dunklin County Memorial Hospital in Kennett, but Gaulden who was later transferred to Baptist Memorial Hospital in Memphis, Tenn.

Patricia Haney, 17, of Charleston suffered minor injuries at 10 a.m. Saturday on an unmarked road two and one- half miles southwest of Charleston when an another vehicle traveling south on the wrong side of the road forced her northbound pickup truck off the road into a ditch.

She was taken to Missouri Delta Community Hospital in Sikeston.

Michael Speer, 18, of Advance suffered minor injuries at 1:45 p.m. Saturday on Route E five miles east of Advance when the car he was driving ran off the road at a high rate of speed.

He was taken to Southeast Missouri Hospital in Cape Girardeau.

A pedestrian was injured at 8:15 p.m. Saturday when he was struck on Route T

Girl hospitalized from overdose

Jeanie Meyers, 17, of the Dunn Hotel, was listed in satisfactory condition today in the intensive care unit of Missouri Delta Community Hospital after she took an overdose of pills Saturday.

Police said the girl took 45- to 50 Elavil pills at 8:55 p.m. Saturday while in front of the Dunn Hotel with a companion.

Police said she was taken to the hospital, treated and placed in intensive care.

The companion said Miss Meyers, had been depressed.

Jamie Walker named 1974 Miss Bloomfield

BLOOMFIELD — Jamie Walker, 16, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Walker was chosen 1974 Miss Bloomfield in the annual contest Saturday night. Jamie is a junior at Bloomfield High School.

Theresa Atchley, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Atchley and a senior, was chosen first attendant. Second attendant was Miss Brenda Link, 16, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vader Link. Brenda is a junior.

This year's contest was sponsored by the Junior Federated Club and the Chamber of Commerce. The new Miss Bloomfield and her attendants will reign over homecoming festivities scheduled for Tuesday through Saturday of this week and will participate in the homecoming parade, scheduled for 5:30 p.m. Thursday.

Lewises charged with assault in burning death of 3 children

BLOOMFIELD--- The parents of three young children who burned to death Aug. 1, 1973 in a fire that destroyed their home are in the Stoddard County jail today after being arrested Thursday in Sikeston.

Melvin Leon Lewis, 27, and his wife Judith, 26, have been charged by Stoddard County Prosecuting Attorney Tom Baker with three counts of assault. Also arrested and charged was David Larue, 40, of Gray Ridge; who is now in the state penitentiary.

The Stoddard County sheriff's office would not divulge any information to the Daily Standard when they inquired into the alleged arrests Friday morning. A deputy told the paper Friday night he did not know where the Standard could reach Sheriff Ralph Mouser for comment and the Stoddard County prosecutor declined to release any information Friday night, although the story had already appeared in the Dexter Statesman.

According to published reports, three of the Lewis' four children Melvin Leon, Jr., 7, Jody, 6, and Mark, 5, perished in the fire that destroyed their rural home near Essex. The fourth child Michael Lewis, 4, was carried by the parents from the burning house.

Stoddard County sheriff, Ralph Mouser, said the Lewises stated after the fire that they awoke about 2 a.m. on the night of the fire to find their house in flames and made an unsuccessful attempt to save the three children who were in a separate bedroom.

The sheriff said that at the time of the fire, he suspected arson, but did not state this and began quietly investigating the fire. He said the case broke with the confession of Carl Cooper of the Gray Ridge- Essex area that he was involved in the arson plot with the Lewises.

Sheriff Mouser said Cooper underwent a polygraph test which indicated his story was true. A similiar test was given the Lewises and these results also indicated they were involved in the arson plot, although the tests cannot be used as evidence in a court of law, the sheriff said.

Each face the same three charges of assault with fire on the bodies of the three children by "feloniously, willfully, premeditatedly and deliberately burning the bodies, inflicting mortal wounds from which they died." No bonds have been set.

"I have some idea as to the motive for the killings," Sheriff Mouser said, although he declined to disclose his theory.

The Lewises have lived in Sikeston since the fire.

The trio will be arraigned Thursday in Stoddard County Magistrate Court.

BIG BROTHER
BUCKLES UP

A strong move is underway in Congress to repeal the Federal regulation requiring the interlock seatbelt and buzzer system in new cars. This blatant example of "big brotherism" at its worst has generated more constituent mail than almost any other recent issue, according to some members of Congress.

"I personally believe every driver should use seatbelts and I believe they should be encouraged to do so," said Sen. Thomas Eagleton (D-Mo.) in a recent speech. "But I do not believe that the Federal Government has a right to order an individual, in a matter that concerns only himself, to do something that it thinks is in his best interest."

Eagleton, along with Sen. James Buckley (Cons., R-N.Y.) and 13 other Senators, has introduced a bill which would require auto manufacturers to continue offering such equipment, but would leave its purchase by car buyers optional. The bill, already passed by the House, would repeal a regulation in effect less than one year.

The interlock and buzzer system — annoyingly familiar to anyone with a 1974 car — is not the safety panacea that it sponsors claim it to be. There is a potential danger of attempting to restart a stalled car quickly in moving traffic when a belt is not fastened. And, at any rate, a recent study by the Insurance Institute for Highway Safety concluded that only 18 per cent of drivers of buzzer- equipped cars use seatbelts, as compared to 16 per cent without buzzers.

Beyond the questions of the merits of seatbelts, however, is the more important philosophical question involved. In the words of Senator Eagleton, the current regulation "is a direct intrusion on the right of any individual to make a free and responsible judgment, on his own, for his own self-protection ... for every owner of a 1974 car, this buzzer and interlock system is a daily reminder of where the Federal Government has run amok."

In the words of Mr. Clifton C. Garvin, Jr., president of the EXXON Corporation, "The "The actions we must take to deal with our energy problem fall into two obvious categories. First, we ...(must continue) to make a planned and orderly reduction in energy consumption and second, we need a major effort to expand energy resources as rapidly as possible. Both of these steps are needed to get us safely through the next decade, when we will have to make the best of our increasing dependence on petroleum. Both steps are equally essential to ensure a smooth transition to a new era that lies beyond -- the years after 1985, when new energy forms will have to meet a larger and larger share of total energy demand."

THE ENORMOUS OBLIGATION
OF EVERY BUSINESS TO MAKE A PROFIT

When a business makes no profit, it can no longer afford modern equipment. So its costs and prices increase, its customers refuse to pay needlessly high prices — and the business dies.

When a company makes a small profit, it only just gets by, but gradually loses business to the company which makes a large profit and so can afford to keep its equipment modern, its costs low, and its prices reasonable, its jobs high.

But when a company makes a healthy profit, it can afford the most modern equipment which, wisely used by good workmen, means its costs and prices can be lower and lower. Then more and more people can afford the product, more and more workmen will be needed to make it, more and more taxes will be contributed to run the government, and more divdends will reward the investors who make it all possible.

So profit — a good healthy profit — is more than desirable ... it's an obligation.

"WITHOUT FEAR
OR FAVOR

When you get a judge of the Supreme Court and a Prosecuting Attorney, and charge them both with violating the game laws -- that's news.

And that's what happened Sunday over in the New Madrid area. State Supreme Court Judge John Bordgett and New Madrid Prosecuting Attorney Hal Hunter, along with a pair of juveniles, were cited for violation of the game laws.

Hal Hunter is a power in Democratic politics, and Judge Bardgett evidently has some political muscle or he wouldn't have been appointed to the Supreme Court by former Gov. Hearnes.

But the agent who cited them should be commended. That is what is known as "enforcing the law without fear or favor" -- a shopworn phrase that seems to fit in this instance.

If they're guilty-- and neither man has publicly denied it -- then they should be punished severely.

They both known the games laws. They are both sworn to uphold the law. If they are guilty they have violated their trust and should suffer the consequences.

MOST OVER-REGULATED
NATION IN THE WEST

Soon after devaluation of the dollar, foreign corporations started casting covetous eyes on several U. S. corporations. With cheap dollars, they could be bought at bargain- basement prices.

And they had other attractions. The United States is the most lucrative market in the world by far for almost everything, and there was unemployment in the United States at a time, since passed, when many nations were suffering from a condition known as "minus employment."

It seems that in order to keep her factories going West Germany had to import 1.5 million workers from Turkey, Greece, Spain and Portugal. One-third of all the workers in Switzerland were imported. In France, Algerians manned the assembly lines at Renault.

To the foreign corporations, the United States seemed like the promised land.

The era of disillusionment has set in. For the foreign corporations soon discovered a fact that even American businessmen are only dimly aware of.

This is the most- regulated country in the Western world. The bureaucracy, red tape, the welter of pip- squeak rules are equaled only by totalitarian governments.

Most Americans think of Western Europe as semi-Socialist. They are. In Britain, for example, the government owns the coal mines, the cable telegraph and telephone systems, the light - and - power companies and many of the steel mills.

Everywhere in Western Europe, the government owns the railroads. To a European, the idea of a privately owned railroad is about as incomprehensible as the idea of a privately owned highway. Nearly all the airlines are government owned, too.

However, there is very little regulation of the companies that remain in private hands, which is most of them. Britain, for example, has no banking laws at all.

In Harold Lavine's report, he cites the bureaucratic jungle created by the Federal Trade Commission which foreign corporations have encountered in the U. S. They soon believe that the FTC is harassing them because it doesn't like foreigners. They are wrong. The FTC just doesn't like business, domestic or foreign, but it loves red tape. And it doesn't seem to get any better as Congress adds more regulations on business which the Founding Fathers never would have dreamed of under the Constitution.

SOCIAL PROGRAMS
NOW COSTLIEST
FEDERAL SPENDING

According to Tax Foundation, Inc., that while the current inflation has focused attention on the plight of the fixed- income elderly and the poor, Federal spending under the broad budget heading of "human resources" is setting new records.

All "human resources" programs (education, manpower, health, veterans' benefits and income security) topped defense outlays in 1971 and now account for 49.8 per cent -- $151.5 billion -- of the 1975 budget.

The fiscal 1975 budget for the first time calls for outlays of more than $100 billion for income security programs. In 1974, outlays for these programs (Social Security, unemployment insurance, public assistance and related programs) topped national defense spending for the first time. This gap, less than $5 billion in 1974, will widen to more than $12 billion in 1975.

Spending for health ($26.3 billion) and income security ($100.1 billion) totals $126.4 billion in the new budget. This compares to $108.3 billion in the fiscal 1974 expenditures.

The five - year rise in income security spending has been 129 per cent (from $43.7 billion) and health spending is up 104 per cent ($12.9 billion).

In a report before, Tax Foundation showed that the health and income security programs will take $1,665 of the average Federal tax burden of $4,013 per household in fiscal 1975.

The Foundation added that with Congressional approval of a national health insurance program possible this year, the outlook is for a continuation of increasing social welfare expenditures. Besides the new taxes on employer and employe set in the variety of health proposals under study, there are government subsidies of benefits to the poor and the near- poor involved in health plans.

For other social programs, spending increases are already established. Tax Foundation noted that this year more than half of some 80 million individual taxpayers will pay more Social Security taxes than Federal income taxes.

The Federal food stamp program also rises to a $4 billion high in fiscal 1975, a billion more than for the year ended June 30.

An example of a much smaller activity is that under which pregnant women, new mothers and children are supplied a good diet. This will cost $100 million this year compared to $40 million in 1974.

So if you've read this far, we hope you will discuss this with the Congressional candidates who come around asking for votes -- so they can go back to Washington and spend us broke, for sure. In Kansas, we have a choice based on the records of who has voted with the majority party in control of Congress which hasn't changed since FDR.

COSTS TO RECKON WITH

Because many people have considered it profane to consider the dollars and cents cost of pollution control, little is known about this side of the environmental picture. In an Address, entitled "Pollution Control: The Missing Data," the chairman of the board and chief executive officer of North American Rockwell Corporation, Mr. Willard F. Rockwell, Jr., endeavors to lift the veil from the pollution control price tag and show that there is an inescapable cost benefit ratio when it comes to nonproductive environmental expenditures.

Mr. Rockwell cites the escalating figures on a national pollution abatement program. They range from $71 billion to an Environmental Protection Agency figure of $105 billion over a five- year period. The United States Senate has passed a so- called Zero Discharge Bill aimed at removing all pollutants from the nation's waters within the next year or so. Few people realize what this means. In Mr. Rockwell's words, "The first 85-90 percent of water pollutants can be removed at a twenty- year cost, nationally, of just over $60 billion. To remove approximately 9 percent more would cost a total of $119 billion. To raise the removal level to 100 percent would cost a total of $317 billion!" He emphasizes that it is difficult to be specific on these costs because of lack of data. But the figures give an idea of the astronomical price tag that can be attached to pollution abatement unless some reasonable balance is struck between the practical and the ideal.

For the sake of the million or more people who come onto payrolls for the first time each year, the nation must be ready to accept something less than a 100 percent pollution- free environment. The alternative will be to price ourselves out of world markets and create an intolerable unemployment problem in the U.S.

COLOMBIA'S
HIGH-FLYING BANK

If you owned a bank and your potential customers were unable to come to your place of business, what would you do?

That's the dilemma that faced the Banco de Bogota. Colombia's population is scattered throughout vast rural areas — far from banking facilities in the nation's capital.

Since these people could not get to the bank, the bank went to them via a small plane carrying two tellers and two clerks — thus bringing in banking service where none had existed before.

Once a week, the plane (known as Aero- Banco) circles the nation, setting up as a branch operation in airport centers accessible to ranchers, farmers, small businessmen and individuals.

The plane service is also used for ferrying medicines and machines during emergencies, thereby establishing a most favorable image for the bank in the public mind.

IT HAPPENS TO
MANY OF US

The state Revenue Department is reported to be behind in making income tax refunds this year.

The Republican state revenue director, as a Democrat did under Governor Hearnes, blames it on the computer system that is being used in the Revenue Office, claiming it fouled up the records and hasn't yet been straightened out.

We can't argue they are wrong. It took the Appeal a year to get credit for overpayments on a new reproduction machine because the computer used by a nationally known company never caught up with the facts of the case, even though the company did its best to correct the error. We finally got credit for around $500.

The more we see of computers the more we're inclined to think that maybe they weren't such a great boon to business accounting after all.

Intelligence Digest in its analysis of Russian plans and motives in Cyprus has warned that the Communist idea of detente is, quite simply, what they have they hold while all else is negotiable.

Cyprus is negotiable, South Vietnam is negotiable, Taiwan is negotiable, Berlin is negotiable. You name it and if it is not in Communist hands then its status, relationship with the West, political, economic and social future is negotiable "in the interests of peace and international friendship, etc."

The ruthless exploitation of national rivalries and historic enmities is all in accordance with the teachings of Marx and Lenin. Cyprus is a vital NATO base and Greece and Turkey important members of NATO on the flank, a buffer or wedge between Communist Europe and the Middle East. Russia has everything to gain and nothing to lose by using agents provacateurs to stir up trouble.

There will now be a carefully orchestrated propaganda campaign ostensibly designed to "relieve tension" and to "neutralize a trouble spot" in the "interests of world peace" in accordance with the "spirit of detente." The real aim will be to get NATO out of Cyprus.

Intelligence Digest reports the Soviet Union intends to use its massive naval and military power to put pressure on vital points and to use the technique of localized crises to frighten people into taking a neutral position which will be to the disadvantage of the West. The Soviet Union calculates that if "detente" is properly exploited in accordance with the teachings and methods of "scientific communism," then the days of the West will be numbered.

It must be remembered at all times that when dealing with the Communists we are dealing with people who are utterly dedicated to an ideology which admits of no morality other than what is expedient to further its ultimate goal of world revolution.

The Cyprus episode is a classic example. Whoever suggested Mr. Sampson as the new "President" executed a brilliant masterstroke because of all the Greek Cypriots he was the one calculated to arouse the Turkish community and bring Turkish intervention, which, incidentally, Moscow supported.

TROUBLES FOR
THE COWBOY

The Cowboy seems to be in trouble.

And to anyone who follows southeast Missouri politics, "The Cowboy" means W. L. Ramsey, longtime Sheriff of neighboring New Madrid County.

There have been charges, as yet unproven, that prisoners have been mistreated in the New Madrid County jail. And there are further charges that prisoners have been employed on the Cowboy's farm, in violation of the state law.

It should be emphasized that none of these charges have been proven as yet. But an invesitgation is underway.

Cowboy Ramsey has become an institution in Southeast Missouri in recent years --- both as a political figure and as a law enforcement officer.

Many persons close to the situation will tell you that Cowboy is a good law enforcement official. State Highway Patrolmen will not comment for publication, but at least some of them are known to feel that he is an efficient sheriff, and a man who works well with the state organization.

But Cowboy is also a politician of considerable muscle in Southeast Missouri. A political machine still exists in New Madrid County and Cowboy Ramsey is a part of it, many allege. And at least a few think he is the head of it. Others disagree. But all agree that he is a potent political force.

With his brother Randall, who lives in Parma, he operates a big Southeast Missouri farm, The sheriff admits they were but says the prisoners were paid reasonable wages. But working prisoners on private farms is against the law, it is charged.

One of the sheriff's recent political ventures was to try to help his brother, Randall, get the Democratic nomination for the State Senate two years ago. This effort failed when Ramsey was beaten by Senator Nelson Tinnin, but it should be noted that Ramsey carried New Madrid County by a big majority - with his brother's help, of course.

So "The Cowboy", as he is known by many, may be in a bit of trouble. The charges made against his operation are serious and should be fully investigated. The sheriff says he welcomes such an investigation.

Regardless of his efficiency in other phases of his duties, if the charges of abuse of prisoners is true, then the people of New Madrid County have a right to know it. And, if the charges are true, then they should be corrected and those who violated the law should be held accountable.

IT'S UP TO US
TO CHANGE

Remember the old joke about the doting mother who, when seeing her soldier son marching with his regiment in a parade, said proudly to her companion, "Just look — everybody is out of step but my Johnnie!"

Unfortunately, until recently, most of us Americans felt that way about ourselves when it came to the metric system of measurement. Everybody was out of step except us. Now we know we're out of step with the rest of the world.

From the early days of our Republic, the United States has repeatedly considered the question of going metric. Today, as we approach the second centennial of our nation, it is no longer a question of whether we should go metric. It's now a question of how to make the transition as painless as possible.

We can get along with our neighbors in this shrinking world even though we speak different languages — but we must have a common measurement tongue if we are to communicate with one another in quantitave terms.

H.L. Hunt
LAW ENFORCEMENT

Major crime in the United States increased by six percent in 1973, corrected statistics of the Federal Bureau of Investigation showed. Original compilations had reflected a five percent increase over 1973. So alarming is the crime trend that Atty. Gen. William Saxbe told high ranking police officials that a system of federal police might be inevitable in future years. He said this state of affairs could come about if present law enforcement efforts fail.

A federal police state is a dangerous thing. We simply must not let that come to pass. On the other hand there is the danger of the criminal element taking over. This cannot be tolerated by the Republic either. Local and state law enforcement agencies must bring crime under control. The police have to use restraint in protecting the rights of the innocent but their hands must be unshackled to deal with the hardened criminal. Those shackles were imposed during the permissive 1960s. Many officers were actually afraid to live up to their responsibilities of state law because of the fear of federal court decisions. Local and state officers were in a bind. The U.S. Supreme Court has corrected some of the wrongs done to the police but the fear of the federal penitentiary still prevails in the thinking of many officers.

We, the citizens, should insist on clean law enforcement. It must be steady enforcement, however. Police "drives" on crime are worthless. The constant pressure of the law must be felt by the criminal underworld. That is the proper way to reduce those crime statistics. A federal police system is not the answer. HLH

Sardine War: Soviets Still Spying and Sabotaging See it a One-Way Detente

WASHINGTON -- After hydrofoiling under the Iron Curtain some weeks ago, and speeding by car across some of its instant-death border strips (along well- marked routes since this was no movie script) and jetting in and out of Communist capitals, I came to a strange conclusion: yes, there is an Iron Curtain.

It's lifted for a while by the detente-minded USSR. To pharaphrase Shakespeare, "the prince of darkness is a gentleman." The revolution is being sugar-coated as sweet bait for the purchase of critical American industrial and computerized expertise on long, long-term 6 per cent interest rate credits.

But mistake it not. The Soviets are still spying, sabotaging, electronically bugging, surveilling and skillfully plotting to destroy the very same American capitalism which it is now entertaining so graciously. But, in the words of a man whose identity would mean his death, the Soviets are the same ideologists and killers of Stalin's day.

To the Soviets, this is a one-way detente. Though the revolution has low visibility these day it grinds on inexorble. The Soviet politburo is convinced world capitalism will collapse from inflation corrosion. And the party-- personified by Leonid Brezhnev -- believes it can win much of Western Eruope by the ballot instead of the bullet.

Thus its affiliates abroad have been directed to behave like patriots -- until after the deluge. The Italian Communist party--with one of the toughest, heavily armed and financed underground army and espionage apparatus--has in dialectic fashion declared itself pro-west. The powerful French Communist party and its General Confederation of Labor has passed on word that its workers and wage demands will be gentle-- vive la France.

But most dramatically the script is being plaved in lovely Portugal among its gentle people under perpetual sunshine. There you have the perfect profile of today's patriotic Communist party--gentlemen until after the national democratic election which the military junta unwisely will set for a people not yet ready for the polls.

The Portuguese Communist party (PCP) today--to prove its sense of responsibility-- is more conservative than America's Right To Work Committee when it comes to labor action.

To prove this I must report the sardine strike. Portuguese fishermen are a friendly albeit sometimes hungry lot. Their crafts are old. They can't chase the ever-receding swarms of sardines. So their income has swindled. On June 15 shortly after the military junta seized power, the sardine fishermen struck. They had been paid by canners by the catch. Now they wanted a guarantee of $40 a week--which would include the cost of maintaining their small craft, high-cost fuel, repairs, etc. They were backed by shellfish gatherers and some boat operators.

The Lisbon Communist party polituro screamed. This was unpatriotic. It would unhinge the government. It was a capitalist trick really. Then the canners (fish packing plant owners) were contacted. They flew to Stockholm. No one quite knows with whom they dealt. But they returned happy.

On July 16, the Soviet refrigerated fishing vessel "Nackichevan" steamed into Oporto, the big northern industrial city. On board were 3,400 tons of frozen sardines and an average of 400 tons were unloaded daily. There could no longer be any shortage of sardines to can. The "Nackickhevan" could steam to the fish-swarming waters between the Azores and Cannary Island and back to Oporto indefinitely.

On July 25 the Communists working with the canners had smashed the strike. The fishermen returned to work. They had to feed their families. So they took far less money than they had originally demanded.

There are many such stories of the newly patriotic Communist party under Minister without Portfolio Alvaro Cunhal who was trained for years by the Soviet Communist party for just such an assignment. For example, shortly after the sardine strike the Portuguese postal workers truck for several days. Once again the Communists swung into action. There were riotous Communists street demonstrations against the strikers. Leaders were mauled. Headquarters were smashed.

And believe me, the Portuguese postal workers under the old regime almost literally were slaves. They worked such long hours, it was often senseless to go home to sleep. They were paid less than $30 a week. Some as low as $20 and $25. Theirs was a simple economic strike. But the Communits brutalized the strikers. All in the hope that the good people of Portugal would vote for the CP during the next election. Time enought to turn the screws and create a Soviet Marxist state after the balloting if they won power peacefully. And the thrust of the party's propaganda is the charge that the multi-nationals international capitalism--especially American capitalism-- are responsible for the impoverished plight of the proletariat. Communist journalists and Communist-dominated journals pound away daily at this anti-American theme.

Thus it goes all over free Europe. The hand that spreads the caviar and pours the vodka for U.S. businessmen in Moscow is the same which writes the hate scripts against American business across the continent. The Soviets want that most- favored - nation low American tarrif treatment.

Then the hand will switch from caviar to clubs.

Commodities trading control tops agenda

WASHINGTON (AP) — Control of commodities trading and copyright regulations top the Senate agenda this week, while the House returns from an extended Labor Day recess.

A showdown is expected in the Senate over whether to require broadcasters and other record users to pay copyright royalities to singers and other performers.

But first, at today's session, the Senate was to take up a bill providing for expanded government regulation of the nation's commodities-future market.

A strengthened version of a measure already passed by the House, it would set up an independent commission empowered to seek injunctions against abuses in the $500 billion-a-year commodity trading business.

The House returns Wednesday from an extended Labor Day recess. The Senate returned a week earlier.

The initial measure before the House will be a bill, prompted by recent controversy over floating rate notes, that would give federal agencies discretionary authority to control the issue of debt obligations by banks and other financial institutions.

In mid-week the Senate Post Office and Civil Service Committee is to consider a resolution to disapprove President Ford's deferral for three months of a proposed 5.5 per cent pay raise for federal employes and military personnel.

Delaying the increase from Oct. 1 to Jan. 1 would save $700 million, but government employe unions have mounted a campaign against the postponement.

The President's action, part of his budget-cutting efforts to fight inflation, can be overriden by majority vote in either the Senate or the House.

The Senate Rules Committee also has set a meeting for Wednesday at which it hopes to be able to announce a time for starting public hearings on Nelon A. Rockefeller's nomination to be vice president.

88 believed dead in jetliner crash

ATHENS, Greece (AP) — All 88 persons aboard a TWA jetliner that crashed Sunday in the Ionian sea are believed dead. At least 17 of the 79 passengers and some of the nine crew members were Americans.

The Boeing 707 jet was en route from Tel Aviv to Los Angeles with stops in Athens, Rome and New York. It plunged into a stormy sea 60 miles west of Kefallinia island 40 minutes after leaving Athens.

By midnight Sunday, 12 hours after the crash, seven bodies had been recovered by the crew of a Greek freighter, the first ship to reach the scene.

A telephone caller in Beirut reported that an organization called the Nationalist Youth for the Liberation of Palestine had sabotaged the plane. But the Palestine Liberation Organization, the umbrella group for the major guerrilla organizations, said the call was a hoax and a "Zionist fiction" to discredit the Palestinian cause.

The Greek merchant marine ministry said an Alitalia plane reported seeing the707 "plunging steeply into the sea with one engine on fire" shortly before noon. Search pilots flying over the site soon after said all they saw were "remnants of wreckage and bodies floating on the surface."

TWA officials said 49 of the passengers aboard boarded at Tel Aviv and another 30 got on in Athens. It said 17 of those who boarded in Israel were Americans, including one infant, but the nationalities of the Athens passengers were not reported.

17 die on highways

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Seventeen persons died in Missouri traffic accidents over the weekend.

Four perished in one mishap Friday night and a 24-year-old Fulton man was charged in that incident with manslaughter and driving while intoxicated. Kenneth Tribble was held in the Laclede County Jail at Lebanon in lieu of $20,000 bail pending a hearing Sept. 17.

The highway patrol said Trimble's car rounded a curve on Missouri 32 west of Lebanon and slid sideways into the opposite lane, being struck broadside by an auto driven by Janet L. Carney, 19, Lebanon.

Mrs. Carney's two baby daughters — one a year old, the other one month — were killed. Danny R. Showmaker, 24, and Moneta L. Vaughn, 18, both of Fulton, were killed in Trimble's car.

Two persons died in separate accidents Sunday.

William Clay Graves III, 23, St. Joseph, was a passenger in a car involved in a collision in St. Joseph.

Phyllis J. Dube, 29, Iberia, Mo., died in a two-car collision near her hometown, just east of the Lake of the Ozarks, on Missouri 42.

There were four accidents Friday and Saturday claiming two lives each.

Rita Dameron, 15, and her sister, Dora, 5, both of Moberly, were struck Saturday by a truck that ran off a Moberly street and rammed a car after passing through two yards.

Roxie Baker, 23, and Kerri J. Buchanan, 20, were killed Saturday in a two-car collision at a Kansas City intersection.

On Friday night, Nancy Hechinger, 16, and Carolyn Griesemauer, 17, both of O'Fallon, died in a two-car collision on Missouri 79 near Old Monroe and another two-car collision in Kansas City killed Stephen A. Keith, 36, Lowry City, and Martha Mae Peterson, 38, Osceola.

Other victims:

James Edward Langdon, 80, rural Campbell, whose car was struck Saturday by a locomotive at a Campbell crossing.

Mrs. Richard Leroy Green, 55, St. Louis, in a collision on U.S. 67 near Farmington Saturday.

Wheel theft foiled

PORTAGEVILLE — Thieves attempting to steal mag wheels at 12:10 a.m. today from a car belonging to Mike French at the corner of McArthur and Sixth Streets were apparently scared off. In their haste to leave, the thieves left two jacks and a handle for socket wrenches, according to police.

24 accident patients treated

Twenty- four accident patients were treated and released over the weekend in the emergency room of Missouri Delta Community Hospital.

13 arrested

Police today announced 13 arrests. They included Eugene George Smith Jr. of Benton Harbor, Mich., driving while intoxicated and no driver's license.

Glenn Franklin Clark, 112 School, peace disturbance; Walter Jones, of Brownville, Route One, driving while intoxicated; Ralph Edward Brany, of Benton, improper exhaust; James David Yancy, Route Two, speeding.

Archie Mike Dorris, Route Three, careless and imprudent driving; Steve A. Cantrell, 514 Tanner, careless and imprudent driving; Sherman Obannon Isbell of Morehouse, careless and imprudent driving.

Cars collide at intersection

Two cars collided in the intersection of West Malone Avenue and New Madrid Street at 7:55 p.m. Sunday. Police said the accident occurred when a car driven southbound on New Madrid by Elmer Dean Russell, 16, of 423 Edmondson, turned into the path of a car driven northbound on New Madrid by Robert Newton Pennington, 45 of 610 Vernon St. Police said there were no injuries or arrests.

Texas beauty crowned

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — One of the new Miss America's favorite people is television talk show host Johnny Carson. And it was visions of Carson that danced before her eyes as she was winning the title.

Shirley Cothran, the former Miss Texas, played a jazzy flute medley before a live crowd of 20,400 and a nationwide television audience Saturday night. Before going on stage, she recalled, "I thought, 'jeepers, Johnny Carson's probably watching me.'"

The 21-year-old guidance counsellor from Denton, Tex., cried when she was crowned just before midnight Saturday; cried at a ball later and resumed weeping Sunday morning at a brunch for all 50 contestants. Her predecessor, Rebecca Ann King of Colorado, shed no tears last year.

Fashion show tonight

Fran Peabody of Dallas, Tex., will narrate the "Pajama Game" fashion show for Delta Gamma Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi sorority tonight at 7:30 in the Security Federal Savings and Loan Association community room. Jennie Tatroe, left, discusses fashions to be shown with the narrator.

Sikeston scouting events scheduled

Brownie, Junior, Cadette and Senior girl scout leaders convened Wednesday at the Security Federal Savings and Loan Association community room for a meeting resided over by Mrs. Keith Duncan, Junior- Cadette- Senior neighborhood chairman, and Mrs. Fred Thornton, Brownie neighborhood chairman.

Mrs. Jim Robinson presented an investiture and rededication ceremony, in which leaders new to scouting received pins and experienced leaders and new leaders were made aware of the ideals, continuing satisfaction and fun of scouting.

A basic leadership training session for new leaders is scheduled from 10 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. Sept. 17 at First Christian Church.

On Sept. 24, a second basic leadership training session for new leaders and leaders changing levels will be held at First Christian Church from 10 a.m. to 2:30 p.m.

For leaders unable to attend the Sept. 24 session, a night training session is scheduled from 7 to 9:30 p.m. Oct. 10 at First Christian Church. Leaders who plan to attend the night session should register with their neighborhood chairmen.

A basic outdoor training meeting is scheduled at Camp Latonka Oct. 8.

The Cotton Carnival parade will begin at 10:30 a.m. Sept. 28. All Brownie and Junior troops will walk, and Cadette troops will walk or ride floats they have made. Troops will assemble at the corner of Woodlawn and Ranney streets, at 10 o'clock.

Girl Scout cookie sales will be conducted Nov. 12-23. Mrs. George Waters, 123 Terrace Drive, is Junior, Cadette and Senior cookie chairman, and the Brownie cookie chairman is Mrs. James Brock, 612 Holly Hill Drive. Troop leaders should supply their chairman the names of individual troop cookie chairmen.

Troops which plan to sell Girl Scout calendars should use the order form in the Scout Scope, and orders must be turned in by Oct. 1.

A Girl Scout uniform sale and exchange will be conducted beside the Rex Theatre building on Wednesday. Girls having uniforms they wish to sell or exchange should bring them to the exchange from 8 a.m. to noon, at which time the articles will be priced. Sales will be conducted from 3 to 5 p.m. the same day, Sept. 11.

Mrs. John Cowell presented information concerning the American Revolution Bicentennial Badge project, which will merit a special badge which can be earned over a three-year period. This is not a required badge. Two centennial patches, which may be worn of the uniform through 1976, can be purchased at J. C. Penney Co. or Buckner Ragsdale Co.

Mrs. Bill Lewis reported that 203 girls and 35 adults participated in the 1974 day camp and that plans are already underway for next year.

Miss Ilena Aslin, director of Cotton Boll Council, reported that approximately 500 girls from the Cotton Boll area attended the four sessions at Camp Latonka this summer. Of these girls, 104 were from the Sikeston area.

Miss Perkins, Wrather exchange wedding vows

PERKINS — Brenda Gail Jones of Perkins and James Allen Wrather of Portageville exchanged marriage vows at 7 p.m. Aug. 10 in the Missionary Baptist Church. The Rev. Bob Johnson, pastor, performed the double- ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd C. Jones of Perkins, and Wrather is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Odell Wrather of Oran.

The church podium was decorated with a large gold arch entwined with greenery and white, yellow and blue flowers. Dozens of blue-tipped carnations and long, light blue ribbons accented each side and center of the arch.

Two large baskets of blue-tipped carnations stood on either end of the arch. Two spiral gold candelabra adorned each side of the podium. Candles were placed on each side of the back of the altar and adorned the piano.

Miss Elaine Jackson of Morley provided piano music and Mrs. Bob Johnson of Scott City sang, "More," "Til the Twelfth of Never" and "The Lord's Prayer".

The bride, escorted down the aisle by her father, wore a formal gown of white peau de soie and Chantilly lace featuring a high neckline of lace and seed pearls. Lace motif accented the fitted bodice, and layers of scalloped lace were sewn down each side of the full skirt. Bishop sleeves underlined in silk featured lace inserts at the elbow and lace cuffs.

A lace and pearl Camelot cap held a triple- tiered waist-length veil. Each tier of her veil was edged in scalloped lace that matched the gown.

The bride carried a cascade of baby red roses, baby carnations, baby's breath, stephanotis and lilies of the valley. It was trimmed in lace and net with long white streamers that had two large red roses entwined.

Mrs. Carole L. Dirnberger of Oran, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. Miss Gail Bumgardaner of Perkins served as maid of honor.

They wore full- length, light blue, princess - style polyester and silk gowns accented with small white and blue flowers and underlined with blue silk. The gowns were styled with short puffed sleeves and high collars. A large bow matching headpiece of the same material as the dress held the three- tiered blue veil. Each carried long- stemmed red roses.

Laura Shoemaker of Perkins was flower girl. She wore a light blue long gown of polyester and silk, which had short puffed sleeves, high collar and full gathered skirt. White gloves completed the outfit. She carried a white basket with an assortment of flowers.

Shane Dirnberger, of Oran, nephew of the bride, was ringbearer. He carried a white heart- shaped pillow of satin, with long blue and white streamers, on which two gold wedding rings were attached.

Best man was Gary Kamber of St. Louis. Gregory Lynn Jones, the brother of the bride, was groomsmen.

Ushers were Glennon Dirnberger of Oran, brother-in - law of the bride, and Glenn Nothdruft of Gordonville, brother - in- law of the groom.

The men of the wedding party wore black tuxedos with velvet - pointed collars and white pleated shirts. A velvet stripe ran down the leg of the pants. The groom's boutonniere was a white carnation and lily of valley, and the attendants and father wore blue- tipped carnations. The ushers wore white carnations.

The bride's mother chose a long, dacron and polyester, princess- style dress of light blue with short sleeves. The outfit was completed with blue and white accessories.

The groom's mother wore a long, pale green, sleeveless dress of polyester with white accessories. Each mother wore a corsage of white carnations and baby red roses, baby's breath and lily of the valley.

Following the ceremony, the bride paused at the pews of the parents and gave each mother a large, long-stemmed, red rose from her bouquet and a kiss on the cheek.

A reception was held at 8 p.m. in the church dining room. White and blue pleated streamers and large and small wedding bells decorated the room and the bride's table and gift table.

The bride's table was trimmed in full- length, light blue satin, overlayed with a white lace tablecloth centered with the cake.

The four- tiered layered cake featured swans on the pedestals separating the layers. Between one layer was a wedding ring shell case, which was opened and had two gold wedding bands inside. Another layer held four sugar wedding bells, centered with lace and net and lily of the valley and baby's breath.

Angels and lilies of the valley on a base of net and lace and greenery accented another layer. On the top layer was a large white archway with a miniature bride and groom inside. The cake was trimmed throughout with light blue and light red rose designs.

Also on the bride's table were crystal punch bowls and cups, mint and nut dishes.

Mrs. Shirley Shoemaker, Mrs. Kay Burlison and Miss Betty Jo Cook of Perkins served at the reception.

Mrs. Glenn Nothdruft of Gordonville, sister of the groom, attended the guestbook.

Following a trip to Pensacola and other cities in Florida, they are living in Dexter.

The new Mrs. Wrather attended Oran High School and was a 1972 graduate of Southeast Missouri State University in Cape Girardeau, graduating summa cum laude with a bachelor of arts degree in social science and history. She teaches high school social studies in the Bloomfield R-14 School District.

Wrather attended Oran High School and Central Methodist College in Fayette, where he received a bachelor of arts degree. In 1972, he received a master of science degree from Purdue University in Lafayette, Ind.

He is a research specialist in plant pathology at the University of Missouri Delta Research Center in Portageville.

Out- of - town guests included:

Joanne Newcomer, Carmalleen Newcomer, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Sharp and Steve and Gary and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sindle and boys of Bloomfield; Mr. and Mrs. Aubra Wrather, Mrs. Virginia Swilley and Mrs. Dorothy Callihan of Portageville.

At Wit's End

By Erma Bombeck

When I was younger, I used to faithfully watch a show called "Wagon Train." Week after week, a brave band of Americans faced hunger, disease, the blazing sun, the bitter cold, sorrow and disappointment in their drive westward.

Often I asked myself, "Why?" Today, I know why. Those poor devils were searching for the last picnic table.

They're still doing it. Oh, the wagons have turned to Winnebagos, the trail boss into Daddy, but the sun, the cold, the hunger, the consumption and the disappointment are still there.

Last Sunday, we had driven bumper to bumper for about five hours along a scenic route lined with campers, boats, kids and dogs all searching for a picnic table. I looked at the children. Their faces were white with dust, one was coughing from exhaust fumes, and the others stared silently with hollow vacant eyes out of the rear window.

"Please," I said touching my husband's arm gently, "let's turn back. We should never have left the city and come to this God- forsaken scenic route. It's not for myself that I'm begging to turn back, it's for the children. Look at them. They need fresh air to breathe...fresh fruit to eat...other children to run and play with...and schooling. Little Jodie will be ten in another week or so and he hasn't been to school yet."

"Just hang on a littler longer," said my husband. "Back at the last Stop 'N' Go, I heard a rumor there was a picnic table about eight miles down the road."

"Do you suppose it would have a shade tree nearby?" I asked.

"Don't get your hopes built up. It's just a rumor."

We bumped along for another five miles when my husband saw it. "Look! It's a picnic table."

Tears welled my eyes. "All right, children, get ready. The moment the car slows down, you all jump out and run over and throw your bodies across the table until we can park and get there."

They poised their bodies at the door ready to spring when panic set in. A silver airstream was racing for the same table from the opposite direction.

"Faster." I shouted hysterically. "There's an airstream coming in at 4 o'clock."

"There's also a four- wheel drive bearing down over the ridge," said my husband.

In a cloud of smoke, we all stopped and 12 or 15 children spilled out of the cars and flung themselves on the table. When the dust settled, we discovered we had all been too late. A dog was tied to the picnic table to stake it out for another picnicker.

The losers pulled their vehicles into a circle. It would be a long night.

Bowhunters, get ready

While August weather is a long way from the crisp days of Fall normally associated with hunting, this is the month that most bowhunters start to think seriously about getting ready.

In fact, California bowbenders are already deer hunting (beginning July 6th) in the earliest season in the country. Utah and Colorado follow with mid- August openers drawing archers from all points of the national compass who head for the high western mountains in search of trophy mule deer.

The Missouri archery season opens Oct. 1.

With the National Field Archery Association Championships wrapping up in July, serious tournament competition is about over for the year, target bows are laid up and the hunting bows come off the racks. The "big sticks" as archers call them are readied for pre- season work outs as groups of bowhunters get together for stump shoots and tin can sessions to familiarize themselves once more with these heavier weapons.

"Working your muscles back into shape for that heavy bow should be done slowly" says Doug Kittredge a famed bowhunter who holds the world record for the largest mountain lion ever taken by an archer. "Don't overdo shooting sessions at first" cautions Kittredge, "just shoot for fifteen or twenty minutes a day for the first week or so, and pull the bow a few times in the morning before work, just for exercise".

George Wright, an eight year member of the Pen Pearson Bowhunting Advisory Staff suggests that bowhunters get away from shooting at targets. "I believe that we get too bullseye oriented" says Wright, "there's no spot on that big buck, just one you imagine."

Wright practices on an empty hay bale, just one bale which he states is close to being about the size of a big deer's body. His practice method revolves around putting one arrow in a very certain spot on the bale, shooting at an imaginary aiming point from all distances and positions. It pays off for George Wright who collects several trophy bucks a year in the western states.

John Lamicq, another Pearson Staff member who is a professional guide in Colorado feels that the most important practice element is to shoot a lot, with broadheads.

John shoots into old bales and does a lot of roving around the country of his native Colorado scouting out the game haunts. He takes his bow and shoots at spots in soft dirt banks, pine cones on grassy hillsides and similar marks. "I may wreck a Switchblade broadhead or two, but when the season rolls around I'm ready and I know where those blades are going to go."

That's good advice, seasoned bowhunters agree that broadheads have their own flight characteristics, nothing beats practice with the real thing.

"There are a lot of ways a bowhunter can practice" says Jim Dougherty, Director of the Ben Pearson Advisory Staff. "It really doesn't matter what he does as long as he gets out in plenty of time before the season and does it," each bowhunter will figure out whats best for him, doing it is the important thing when the time for that shot comes along."

Brock steals pair

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Fiery Wayne Garrett of the New York Mets figures he beat more than the St. Louis Cardinals with his 11th home run of the season Sunday.

After scuttling the Cards 5-3 with a three-run wallop in the eighth inning, the red-haired infielder passed along his compliments also to the plate umpire.

"He (John McSherry) called me out on the same pitch in the third inning," commented Garrett, who teed off on a 3-2 Lynn McGlothen delivery to cap a four-run Mets rally.

"And he would have called me out again if I hadn't swung," he declared. "It was a high curve up around my eyes. It wasn't a strike."

Garrett, whose drive dropped the Cards 2½ games behind the Pittsburgh Pirates in the National League East, said he was surprised to be facing McGlothen, 16-9.

"I was thinking about it," acknowledged Cards Manager Red Schoendienst, "but McGlothen was throwing good. He pitched bad the first few innings, then he pitched real well."

Overshadowed by a Mets burst snapping a 1-1 tie and a Cards six-game win streak was more spectacular base-running by Lou Brock, who swiped his 102nd and 103rd bases.

In drawing one from the major league record of 104 by Maury Wills, Brock also tied the NL career mark of 738 set by the Pirates' Max Carey in 1929.

"Outstanding pitchers do not have good moves," asserted Brock, who victimized the Mets' Tom Seaver in the first and eighth innings.

"Nobody's on base against them that much," he explained. "Who are they going to practice against?

"No, I can't get overly anxious to steal No. 104 and No. 105 to beat Wills," added Brock, whose thefts came in the Cards' 140th of 162 games.

"If I were to change my style and put a kind of emphasis on the record then I'd really be frustrated," he noted.

"Our top emphasis or priority right now has to be on winning ball games. And winning was something we didn't do today."

Seaver, 10-8, restricted the Cards to four hits through seven innings, then ignited the winning Mets burst with a single in the eighth.

He advanced on a sacrifice and Felix Millan flied out before Ed Kranepool followed a Cards conference at the mound with a tie-breaking hit and John Milner was purposely walked.

"Red just asked me whether I'd rather pitch to Kranepool or Milner," McGlothen, who afterward succumbed to the Garrett blast.

"I elected to with Kranepool," he added, "but I thought both the pitch to him and the one to Garrett were good pitches."

Rain and cold temperatures have driven many young doves from Missouri earlier than usual, but the birds still are around in good numbers, especially near silage cuts. The dove season runs until Oct. 30, with a daily limit of 10, possession limit of 20.

ENDICOTT, N.Y. (AP) — The B.C. Open Golf Tournament will offer a total purse of $175,000 next year, making it one of the best paying stops on the Professional Golf Association tour, officials say.

This summer's total purse was $150,000.

The winning pro in next year's tournament Aug. 29 through Sept. 1 will receive $35,000 prize money.

The B.C. Open takes its name from the comic strip "B.C.," whose creator, Johnny Hart, lives here.

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The St. Louis football Cardinals have trimmed their active roster to 50 players.

Place on waivers Sunday were sixth-year middle linebacker Jim Sniadecki, fifthyear wide receiver Walker Gillette, fourth-year center Gene Hamlin, first-year quarterback Bill Bynum, rookie running back Reggie Harrison, second-year wide receiver Mary Owens, and second-year defensive tackle Bonnie Sloan.

Defensive end Ron Davis, a first-year player who was injured in Friday night's game against Kansas City, was placed on the injured reserve list while he undergoes knee surgery.

DALLAS — Joann Carner carded a final-round two-overpar 74 and held on to defeat Kathy Whitworth by a stroke in the $40,000 Dallas Civitan Open with a 54-hole total of 217.

AUTO RACING

MONZA, Italy — Ronnie Peterson of Sweden drove his Lotus to victory in the Grand Prix of Italy Forumla-One race with Emerson Fittipaldi of Brazil, in a Texaco-McLaren, finishing second.

RICHMOND, Va. Richard Petty, in a Dodge, scored an easy victory in the Capital City 500 Grand National stock car race, finishing one lap ahead of Benny Parsons.

Irish, not no. 1

ATLANTA (AP) "We're not the No. 1 team in the country right now," says Ara Parseghian, coach of Notre Dame's defending college football champions.

That's Parseghian's honest opinion as the Fighting Irish prepare to open their season tonight in a nationally televised game (ABC-TV, 9 p.m., EDT) against Georgia Tech. And the sports writers and broadcasters who vote in The Associated Press poll agree with him. They have the Irish ranked third behind Oklahoma and Ohio State.

There's just one small catch to Parseghian's assessment of his team.

"It's not significant to be No. 1 at this stage of the season," he says. "It's more of a handicap right now than an advantage. I'm not saying we won't be No. 1 at the end of the season. Our objectives are always the same — we'd like to go undefeated, we'd like to go to a bowl and we'd like to win the national championship. It's just going to be a lot more difficult this year."

Parseghian seemed to be sitting pretty following the 24-23 Sugar Bowl triumph over Alabama that nailed down the 1973 national crown. He expected 17 starters back to defend the title, but for one reason or another — injuries, accidents, university suspensions — five of them have been lost and three of their backup men also are sidelined.

Parseghian doesn't know too much about Georgia Tech, but neither does Pepper Rodgers, Tech's new coach. The Yellow Jackets will use the Wishbone offense, which helped Rodgers mold an awesome rushing attack at UCLA.

In Saturday's action, UCLA and Tennessee battled to a 1717 tie. The Bruins, ranked 12th, had a shot at winning in the final 14 seconds but Brett White's 40-yard field goal attempt went wide.

Quarterback Condredge Holloway got the 16th-ranked Vols on the scoreboard in the first quarter, connecting with Stanley Morgan on a 74-yard touchdown pass play on the second play of the game. Bruins quarterback John Sciarra ran and passed UCLA into the lead in the final period, but Holloway led Tennessee 80 yards for the tying TD, capping the drive with a 12-yard run.

Dave Buckey threw for two touchdowns and ran for a third as No. 18 North Carolina State piled up 30 points over the final two quarters to whip Wake Forest 33-15. The Wolfpack gained 265 yards rushing while holding the Deacons to just 46.

No. 15 Arizona State upset No. 11 Houston 30-9 with sophomore Freddie Williams racing 69 yards for one touchdown and going four yards for another.

In other top games, Syracuse downed Oregon State 23-15. Tailback Ken Kinsey gained 169 yards on 38 carries for Syracuse.

New Mexico State shaded Wichita State 13-12 with Jim Germany running for 118 yards on 28 carries.

Tampa shut out Tennessee-Chatanooga 28-0 as Freddie Solomon scored two touchdowns and passed for another.

The Tulane-Mississippi game in New Orleans was postponed due to Hurricane Carmen. It will be rescheduled.

State has third world fish mark

JEFFERSON CITY-- Missouri now has its third official world record fish, the second this year.

A two pound, two ounce green sunfish, caught June 20, 1971, by Paul Dilley, Springfield, has been recognized as a rod and reel world mark by Field and Stream magazine, the keeper of world records.

A month earlier, a 40-pound bigmouth buffalo, grabbed from Current River by Lovel Hall, Doniphan, was recognized by the magazine as a "caught by any method" world mark. Missouri also holds the world "caught by any method" blue catfish record of 117 pounds.

That fish was caught in 1964 on a trotline by Anzel Goans and sons of Lowry City.

Dilley took his green sunfish from Stockton Lake at noon, using worms for bait and, though it was immediately recognized as a state record, it wasn't given much thought beyond that.

But when Field and Stream listed the world green sunfish mark at two pounds in February, 1974, Joel Vance, Department of Conservation keeper of state records, wrote the magazine submitting both Hall's buffalo and Dilley's sunfish.

The Missouri listed rock bass (goggle- eye) state record also is larger than the listed world record, but the Missouri fish which weighed 2:12, was not authenticated when it was caught in 1968 by William Rod, Kirkwood, from Big Piney River.

Records existing when the record requirements were stiffened to include authentication were retained, but most have been beaten by completely documented fish.

The magazine wouldn't accept any fish records that weren't authenticated by the state. But the rock bass mark is one that could be claimed by a Missourian in the future.

Another vulnerable world mark is the flathead catfish one. Missouri has had two trotline records larger than the existing 76 pound rod and reel record. The world white bass mark is five pounds, five ounces and the present Missouri record is five pounds, two ounces.

There easily could be a world record carp swimming in Missouri waters. The world mark is 55:05 and the present Missouri mark is 47:07.

Carmen sputters out, leaving 2 dead, ravaged sugar crop

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Hurricane Carmen has sputtered out and dispersed over Louisiana and Texas after leaving two dead and ravaging the Louisiana sugar cane crop. But the storm did far less damage than officials had feared.

Authorities said about 14,000 refugees remained in evacuation centers early today. But thousands of others returned home as the storm disintegrated after missing the state's major population centers.

Carmen, packing winds gusting up to 180 miles per hour, had been heading straight north for New Orleans. But it stalled for five anxious hours early Sunday, then veered westward through marshland and hit Lafayette about dawn.

It was downgraded to a tropical storm soon afterward.

A lineman for Central Louisiana Electric Co. was found on Sunday hanging in downed power lines. The other victim died in a storm-related traffic accident.

Much of the state's sugar cane crop lay in Carmen's path.

Gov. Edwin W. Edwards, who toured the state by airplane Sunday, estimated that 75 per cent of the crop was destroyed at a cost of $100 million. Gilbert Durbin, vice president and general manager of the American Sugar Cane League, gave the same $100 million estimate, but said it represented only 20 per cent of the total crop. The disparity was not explained.

The governor added: "The damage to the sugar cane appears to be the only significant damage resulting from the hurricane."

Red Cross officials estimated they had housed 60,000 refugees at the height of the storm early Sunday.

Edwards said he would not request President Ford to declare the state a disaster area immediately. He said a study would be made to find the best kind of aid to ask for farmers who suffered losses.

After raking the coastal towns of Abbeville and Franklin with winds of 135 m.p.h., Carmen came ashore near Avery Island.

Several store fronts were sucked out and huge oak trees were blown across roads in Franklin, where winds near the eye were clocked at 80 to 100 m.p.h. But rows of antebellum mansions remained standing.

Carmen pushed inland toward Lafayette, where parish civil defense officials said more than 25,000 people had been evacuated — most of them as the hurricane stalled offshore and drifted westward.

Officials reported property damage but no serious injuries.

Teacher retirement to be topic

CAPE GIRARDEAU-- The Southeast Missouri State University Community Teachers Association will sponsor a program concerning retirement at 7 p.m. Thursday in the Little Theatre at Kent Library on the campus.

David Mustoe, a staff member of the Public School Retirement System of Missouri, will speak about retirement benefits and proposed legislation and provide general information pertaining to the retirement system.

On Friday, Mustoe will be in the dining room of Memorial Hall for personal consultations.

If an appointment with him is desired, he may be reached by phone at 334- 8211, Ext. 234.

The program is sponsored as a service to all teachers in the Cape Girardeau area as well as to the university faculty.

Sharp Citizen editor in jail

CORNING, Ark. (AP) — Joseph H. Weston of Cave City, controversial editor of the Sharp Citizen newspaper, was returned to jail Thursday under $7,500 bond after being convicted of criminal libel.

Weston, an unsuccessful candidate for the Republican nomination for governor, was sentenced to three months imprisonment and fined $4,000.

A jury of nine men and three women returned the verdict in the one-day trial after less than one hour of deliberation.

Weston was convicted in connection with an article in his weekly newspaper last Nov. 30 that made certain allegations against Sheriff Lidell Jones of Clay County and his deputies.

Weston, 62, has said he plans to run as a write- in candidate for governor.

Weston's lawyers said they would appeal the conviction to the Arkansas Supreme Court. They asked that Weston's $3,000 appearance bond be continued, but Judge A. S. "Todd" Harrison of Clay County Circuit Court refused.

Sheriff Jones said he would give Weston a day or two to post bond before transferring Weston to Cummins Prison Farm.

Reporters were not allowed to talk with Weston once he was in jail.

Sikestonians chosen as Outstanding Young Men

Three Sikeston men and one former Sikeston resident have been chosen as Outstanding Young Men of America for 1974.

They are George Weber Gilmore Jr., 106 Ruth St.; Philip Wayne Boyer, David Drive, and Steven Lee Taylor, 801 Vernon St.

Also named from Southeast Missouri were Henry Tilman Newman of Hayti Route Two and Michael Leroy Jensen of Cape Girardeau, a former Sikeston resident.

Outstanding Young Men of America is an annual biographical compilation sponsored by leading men's civic, service and professional organizations. The awards volume features the accomplishments of approximately 6,300 young men of exceptional abilities and achievements from across the country.

Criteria for inclusion in Outstanding Young Men of America are service to others, professional excellence, business advancement, charitable activities and civic and professional recognition. The young men chosen for this distinction are between the ages of 21 and 35.

Air Force Lt. Gen. Alvan C. Gillem II, author of an introductory message to the 1973 edition of the awards volume said, "the young men in this book are .. men to whom, 'duty, honor, country' is not a corny and outmoded catch phrase. Their track record to date stamps them as potentially the 'best of the best'. Men with an appreciation for combining their own drive and ability with the wisdom and experience of their elders in working to make this country ... America the beautiful."

Nominations for the awards publication are made by civic organizations, Jaycee chapters, college alumni associations and military commandants.

The 1974 edition of Outstanding Young Men of America is scheduled for publication and national distribution in November.

Today in U. S. History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Monday, Sept. 9, the 252nd day of 1974. There are 113 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1776, the term "United States" became official in a ruling of the 2nd Continental Congress.

On this date —

In 1830, Charles Durant made early aviation history by flying in a balloon from New York City across the Hudson River to Perth Amboy, N.J.

In 1850, California was admitted into the Union as the 31st state.

In 1893, for the first time in the history of the United States, a child was born to the first lady in the White House. Mrs. Grover Cleveland became the mother of a baby girl.

In 1919, Boston police went on strike and Massachusetts Gov. Calvin Coolidge ruled they would not be permitted to return to their jobs on grounds they had no right to strike and endanger the public safety.

In 1926, the National Broadcasting Co. was formed in New York City as a service of the Radio Corp. of America.

In 1946, the formal surrender of about one million Japanese soldiers in China took place in Nanking.

Ten years ago: The Chrysler Corp. and the Auto Workers Union reached agreement on a new contract which set a pattern for the auto industry for a three-year period.

Five years ago: An Allegheny Airlines jet with 82 persons aboard and a single engine plane on a training flight collided over Shelbyville, Ind., and crashed, leaving no survivors.

Eye exercises can help vision

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — Are eye exercises harmful to the eyes or do they improve vision?

DEAR READER — If used properly they are usually good for vision. Any form of exercises need to be planned for a specific goal. Your eyes have a set of muscles attached to the eyeball that enable them to move in all those different directions, including rolling your eyes. If a muscle is weak and it affects your vision, the right exercises can strengthen it and improve vision.

Now, let me point out that if you do exercises that strengthen the wrong muscle and do not strengthen the weak muscle, then you may make matters worse. It is similar to the problem of developing muscles to hold your shoulders back. If you do exercises that strengthen the muscles that pull your shoulders forward the exercises will make matters worse. So, exercise of the body or the eyes must be done properly to be helpful. It follows a do-it-yourself project without an examination and the advice of your doctor may be more harmful than useful.

DEAR DR. LAMB — In one of your columns you dealt with the effect of inhaling carbon monoxide pollution created by smoking on nonsmokers. Can you please advise me where I can get a pamphlet or information as to who did this research? A friend disbelieves the validity of the harm it can do to the nonsmoker.

DEAR READER — Glad to oblige. A study on the blood levels of carbon monoxide in nonsmokers confined to a room with smokers was carried out by researchers at St. Bartholomew's Hospital in London. The report was published in Lancet, a British medical journal, the last week of March 1973. There are also other studies that show the level of carbon monoxide in smoke-filled rooms often exceeds the level safe for industry.

In the United States, Modern Medicine, a journal for doctors, published the position of the American College of Chest Physicians in its December 25, 1972 issue. The college believes the smoker should be separated from the non-smoker and has done so for all its state and national meetings. When the ventilation is not adequate, the smoker is "banished" from the meeting hall entirely.

In a statement of rights for nonsmokers the college stated:

"The American College of Chest Physicians believes that cigarette smoking not only is hazardous to the health of the individual who smokes but also is hazardous to the health of the individual who does NOT smoke, but who inhales the hazardous constituents in the air produced by the smoker."

"The College believes that the smoker, although maintaining his right to choose to smoke, should consider his obligation to society by not infringing on the rights of the nonsmoker."

In my opinion smoking should be outlawed in all public places and in all public transportation. Surely one of the basic rights of all human beings is not to be poisoned by the unnecessary habits of others.

Ann Landers

Ann writes from China

Your Problem Girl is in China as a member of the American Medical Association's delegation. There is so much to tell, I could become a crashing bore on the subject. But I'd like to share some insights about the human side of these incredible people.

Do the Chinese like Americans? Indeed they do! One need only say to a stranger on the street, "Nee how!" (How are you?) and he gets a big smile and an extended hand. The Chinese love to "press the flesh." They are eager to demonstrate their friendship with a warm handshake. But don't try to give a child a coin or an adult a cigaret. They will politely refuse. (What a welcome contrast to Hong Kong, where begging on the street by the very young, the elderly and the handicapped is commonplace.)

What are the cities like? Well, it depends. Shanghai is as different from Peking as Las Vegas is from Boston. There are no night clubs in China. Gambling is illegal, yet every night in Shanghai we saw dozens of small groups huddled under dim street lights playing cards or checkers. We saw no money change hands but they seemed to be enjoying themselves immensely. Entertainment, however, comes cheap. For a dime you can see the Chinese acrobats perform (they are fabulous), watch a boxing match, ping-pong game or go to a movie. (The films are pure propaganda, no love stories.) When Dr. John Chanault of Decatur, Ala., asked, "What can a visitor do in your country for an evening?" He was told, "He can go to bed early and get a good night's sleep."

A great many Chinese smoke cigarets and no one asks if you mind. I inquired of a chain-smoking Chinese doctor if he had heard of our Surgeon General's report. He replied, "Yes, but we do not believe it contains any conclusive evidence." (Cancer is the second biggest killer in China, after heart disease.)

At formal dinners (where the men wear no ties or coats) there is frequent "toasting" with mah-tai. Dr. Don Wood, internist from Indianapolis, described it as "rocket fuel." I substituted with orange pop which showed up at every meal, even breakfast. If I never see another bottle of orange pop it will be too soon. The same goes for overstuffed arm chairs with antimacassars (lace doilies).

There are no Jews in The People's Republic. "They were here, mostly physicians and merchants," I was told. "But when Mao came in, the Jews left. Some went to Israel, others to America, but most of them went to Hong Kong and Canada."

Also conspicuous by their absence were blacks. When I inquired, "Why?" I was told, "There are many blacks here, mostly from America." I kept looking, but I never saw a single one.

Every member of our delegation was delighted with the variety, artistry and quality of the food. It was magnificent! (P.S. It isn't true that you're hungry in an hour!) The tea was superb, but difficult to cope with because they serve it with the leaves floating around. You need a hole in your tooth to drink it. We were pleasantly surprised by the modern, air-conditioned trains, but appalled by the archaic plumbing (Ming Dynasty, no doubt), even in the best hotels.

Chinese women have no interest in style. They wear no makeup and no jewelry, except the standard stainless steel wrist watch. When I saw no wedding rings I asked why. The reply: "Wedding rings have not been worn here since the Revolution in 1949." "How then," I inquired, "can a person tell if a woman is available for marriage?" The answer caused a roar of laughter. A Chinese physician replied, "It is impossible to tell from the outside."

I asked a young interpreter what impressed him as most unusual about the visitors he had met from our country. His response was beautiful. "All you Americans look alike."

Flight personnel to be moved

50 years ago
September 9, 1924

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Young and children returned Thursday from their month's vacation at Union Lake, Mich.

Mrs. Harry Lampert leaves Tuesday for a week's visit in St. Louis.

Mrs. John L. Tanner, Misses Myra and Burnice Tanner, and Margaret Harris spent Sunday evening in Morehouse with the Dunaway family.

R. H. Montgomery of Monty's Restaurant, arrived home Sunday from Independence, Mo., where he had been in a sanitarium for three weeks. He was operated on for a hernia and had his tonsils removed. He is gaining strength slowly.

Matthews -- Jerry and Jimmy Deane of St. Louis are visiting their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Luther Deane, this week.

Flight training at the south field of the Missouri Institute of Aeronautics ceased Friday and the personnel, which numbers about 75, will be transferred to the home field in Sikeston Tuesday.

Somewhere in New Guinea, August, 1944-- Lt. William Sidwell, son of Dr. and Mrs. W. I. Sidwell of Sikeston, was married at a native village somewhere in New Guinea, to Winifred Easterby, an American Red Cross Worker from Hartford, Conn., in what may well have been one of the war's most unique weddings.

Dean Marshall, accompanied by his daughter, Dorothy, left Saturday for Bolivar, Mo., where she will enter Southwest Baptist College.

20 years ago
September 9, 1954

Miss Sue Edwards, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vern Edwards of Rolla, Mo., arrived Saturday where she will enroll as a sophomore in the Sikeston school this term. Miss Edwards will make her home with her aunt, Miss Georgia Houchens and grandmother, Mrs. R. M. Houchens.

Blodgett-- Miss Helen Cantrell became the bride of Kenneth Ray Butler on September 3 in the Church of Christ at Blodgett, with Brother Kidd officiating.

Bell City -- Services for Mrs. Almorah Bollinger, 77, who died Sunday, were conducted Wednesday.

An increase of 25 students, with the possibility of a few more latecomers, gives St. Francos Xavier Catholic elementary school an enrollment of 190 pupils this year, according to the Rev. Fr. Richard Suren.

Orville B. Freeman

Freeman reaches 25 years with highway dept.

JEFFERSON CITY— Orville B. Freeman of Oran was recently honored by the Missouri State Highway Department for having completed 25 years of employment with the department.

Freeman began employment with the department as a laborer.

In 1957 he was promoted to maintenanceman 1, the position he currently holds in District 10, based at Sikeston.

Dates set for interviews on SeMo campus

CAPE GIRARDEAU — A schedule of dates for employers who wish to interview on the Southeast Missouri State University campus during the 1974-75 academic year has been announced by Ronald E. King, university placement director.

In making the announcement, King said he would particularly like to encourage smaller employers to visit the campus in their search for qualified personnel and to contact the university's placement office anytime they have a need for a college graduate.

"We're a service office for employers, large or small," he said.

Interview dates for the fall semester are Oct. 1-23 and 28-31; Nov. 1-26; and Dec. 2-13 Spring semester dates are Jan. 16-31; Feb. 1-28; March 1-6 and 18-26; April 1-30; and May 1-9.

King said every effort will be made to accommodate interviewers, but arrangements should be made three or four weeks in advance, if possible.

He said the placement office can offer, among other things, credential packets on each candidate for a position and a prepared schedule for the interviewer with the name of each candidate and the time of his interview.

Interviews are normally a half hour in length and are conducted between 9 a.m. and 4:30 p.m., but King said the arrangements can be varied somewhat to meet the needs of the interviewers.

HOUSTON (AP) — When Carol Miller of Waukesha, Wis., and Jane Leszczynski of Milwaukee won the 1974 WIBC doubles bowling championship with 1313 pins. They were just two pins off the tournament record. The mark of 1315 was set by Judy and Gloria Bouvia of Portland, Ore., in 1969.

Mrs. Leszczynski rolled 674 on games of 196, 234 and 244. Mrs. Miller had a 639 total on games of 222, 255 and 162. It was Mrs. Miller's second WIBC crown. A physical education teacher, she won the 1967 All-Events title.

What's the law?

The case of the patient spouse

By JACK STRAUSS, LL.B.

After coming home from work each night, Charley would dapper up like a barber pole and sit on his front stoop with one of his more curvaceous neighbors. And if their constant appearance together looked deceitful, their disappearance together looked outright obvious.

Nevertheless, Charley's patient wife waited hopefully for her husband's ultimate return.

With her patience unrewarded, Charley's wife finally applied for benefits under the social security law on the grounds that after seven years of "unexplained" absence, her husband's death was presumed.

"Your husband's absence isn't unexplained," she was told. "Obviously, he's in limbo somewhere with that bimbo he ran away with."

"That's possible," responded Charley's wife. "But, in 13 years, neither I, his parents nor any of our children have heard from him. What's more, not even government agencies have been able to find him. Consequently, if he's not dead, he certainly should be!"

Whereupon, Charley's wife took her claim for social security benefits to court.

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you grant social security benefits to Charley's patient spouse?

This is how the judge ruled: YES! The judge held that despite the fact that Charley had taken off with his curvaceous neighbor, reason dictates that in 13 years he would have contacted his wife, children or parents if he was alive. And, concluded the judge, since extensive search and inquiry has failed to turn him up. Charley's absence being unexplained for seven years, he's properly presumed dead.

Maid of Cotton applications sought

MEMPHIS-- The National Cotton Council is accepting applications for the 1975 Maid of Cotton selection.

Naming of the cotton industry's official goodwill ambassador will climax two days of planned activities here Dec. 29 and 30. Twenty finalists will participate in the selection, including 16 chosen on the basis of applications and four named earlier as state or regional winners.

Now in its 37th year, the selection is open to young women between 19 and 23 years old who were born in a cotton-producing state or who have maintained legal residence in the Cotton Belt since age seven or earlier. Applicants also must be at least 5 feet 5 inches tall and never have been married.

The 1975 maid, who will succeed Kathy Raskin of Litchfield Park, Ariz., will make a series of public appearances in this country, Canada and overseas. Her domestic tour will include visits to Washington and other major cities, where she will participate in activities designed to increase public understanding of the cotton industry's contributions to the nation. Plans also call for fashion shows and appearances in Europe and possibly other areas.

Her first official activity will come on New Year's Day at the Cotton Bowl Festival in Dallas, where she will be a featured guest. Following completion of her international tour next summer, she will return here to receive a new automobile as a gift from dealers in the five-state Memphis Ford District.

Application forms for entering the selection may be obtained from the council, 1918 N. Parkway, Memphis, Tenn., 38112. Deadline for submitting completed applications and required photographs is Dec. 1.

AM I CRAZY?
I must be crazy!

I spend thousands of dollars of my firm money, running ads for ambitious, adventurous people and I can't seem to find one good person interested in $15,000 to $20,000 his first year.

If you are not and want a really great opportunity with an international company, CALL ME NOW before I am carted off to the funny farm!

We offer a career opportunity worthy of a real salesman and will prove it to you at your interview.

We manufacture and market a line of industrial maintenance-chemicals used throughout the business world. Sales are booming and so are our salesmens earnings. High commissions are paid monthly with excellent weekly draws. Benefits include profit sharing, hospitalization, major medical, plus a year end bonus.

We want a person who has successfully sold tangibles or is confident in his desire to do so. An aggressive representative who can build lasting associations with customers through return visits, while pressing for an order on each call.

You should have a stable personal and job background and own a late model car.
Meet my challenge and help me prove my sanity.

Deaths

RUTH ANN ISAACKS

PORTAGEVILLE-- Mrs. Ruth Ann Isaacks, 53, of Route Three died Saturday in Pemiscot County Memorial Hospital at Hayti.

She was born Feb. 17, 1921 at Kennett to the late Jack and Dora Robbins McKinney.

She was married to Monroe Issacks, who survives, and the family has lived in the Jaywye Community for 20 years.

Other survivors include three sons, William Isaacks of Jackson, George Isaacks, who is in the Army in Germany, and James Isaacks of the home; eight daughters, Joann Helton of Germany, Barbara Ramsey of Malden and Margarite, Lora Mae, Ruthie, Linda, Wanda and Janet Isaacks of the home; stepfather, Amos Shultz of Caruthersville; one brother, Edgar McKinney of Nashville, Tenn.; two sisters, Susie Hagy and Melissa Ragsdale of Poplar Bluff; and six grandchildren.

Services are scheduled at 2 p.m. Tuesday in Ponder Funeral Home at Lilbourn. The Rev. Richard Clark of Poplar Bluff will officiate.

Burial will follow in Memorial Park Cemetery at Malden.

LUCHEN H. BANKS

EAST PRAIRIE-- Services for Luchen H. Banks, 89, a retired farmer who died Friday, were conducted at 2 p.m. today in Shelby Funeral Home. The Rev. Darrell Jauch, pastor of Bonne Terre Baptist Church, officiated.

Burial followed in Dogwood Cemetery.

Born Jan. 2, 1885 in Dogwood to the late Mr. and Mrs. William Elie Banks, he had lived in Mississippi County all of his life and was a member of First Baptist Church.

On April 1, 1927, he married Hautie Woods, who survives.

Also surviving are one daughter, Mrs. Jessie Jones of Chicago; one brother, Clarence Banks of Bertrand; and nine grandchildren and 12 great-grandchildren.

HERBERT KAYS

EDWARDSVILLE, Ill. — Herbert Kays, 71, a former resident of Sikeston, Mo., where he operated Kays Beauty School, died Saturday.

Born Oct. 6, 1902 in Carbondale, he was married to the former Mickey Simmons of Sikeston, who survives.

Other survivors include one brother, Harold Kays of Edwardsville, and two sisters, Margaret Lendbeck of Edwardsville and Edith Englehart of St. Louis.

The body is at Weber Funeral Home, where services are scheduled on Tuesday.

Thieves choose bad automobile

BLOOMFIELD— The Stoddard County sheriff's department is investigating the theft of an automobile Saturday night from Hood Motor Sales on Highway 25 in Bloomfield.

Sheriff Ralph Mouser said the thieves apparently chose a bad automobile, since it ran only a short distance and stopped near Scism Motor Co., where he said the thieves took a tape player which also was broken.

Thieves also took a small amount of change from Clark- Ford Tractor Sales located east of Bloomfield sometime Saturday night. Mouser said the thieves attempted to break into the soft drink machine but were unsuccessful.

A bicycle was reported stolen sometime Thursday at the Thomas Stafford home near Essex, the sheriff stated.

Mathis fined $208 for DWI

CHARLESTON — Ten persons, arrested over the week-end, appeared in city court this morning.

A $208 fine was paid by Robert Mathis if Sikeston on a second offense of driving while intoxicated. John Henry Bell of Charleston paid a $28 fine on a disturbing the peace charge.

Paying fines of $10 each on speeding charges were Edward Owens Jr., James Robinson, and Diane Chandler of Charleston and Frank Shoffner and James Moss of East Prairie.

Fines of $11 each were paid by Gera[illegible] Mungle and Billy Jarrett of Charleston on speeding charges and Jerry Lynn Morehead of Ark. paid a $13 fine for speeding.

Mary Rita Wilson of East Prairie forfeited a $50 bond Saturday posted on a shoplifting charge. Careless and imprudent driving charges brought $17 fines each on Saturday to Houston Bradford Cannon and Jonathon Hall of Charleston.

Youth charged with stealing

CHARLESTON-- A charge of stealing over $50 was filed today against James Harrison Russell, 17, of East Prairie Route Two, following his arrest about 2:30 p.m. Sunday by Sheriff W. J. "Pedro" Simmons.

The youth, who is being held in Mississippi County jail, is accused of stealing a go- kart, property of the Leslie Armstrong family of East Prairie on Sept. 6.

Russell will appear Thursday in Magistrate Court.

8 Bootheel residents pass state bar exams

JEFFERSON CITY— Eight Bootheel residents were among 509 persons who passed their bar exams. The names of those passing the exams were released by the Missouri Supreme Court.

Those who passed from the Bootheel are:

Philip T. Ayers, 812 Moore St., Dexter; Garry Eugene Champion, 905 Ruth St., Sikeston; James Alan Dereign, Box 108, Caruthersville; James Melvin Hux, 105 Dudley Drive, Sikeston; David Cottingham Mann, 701 Davis, New Madrid; Gary Schechter, 400A Laurant, Caruthersville; David Gordan Shy, 612 Hubbard Drive, Chaffee; and Charles Ray Stamp Jr., 518 Park Ave., Sikeston.

Perkins rest home receives state license

JEFFERSON CITY-- The Briarwood Rest Home, operated by Mr. and Mrs. Harold Probst in Perkins, is the first boarding house for the aged to be licensed in Scott County by the Missouri Division of Health. The home can accommodate 18 residents and is one of 190 boarding houses in the state that have been licensed.

Missouri has enacted its first legislation requiring licensure of boarding houses which keep three or more persons over 60 years of age. Local legislation concerning operation is most important since the state Division of Health cannot license any home which does not meet all local ordinances pertaining to boarding house operation.

"Boarding houses are not to be confused with nursing homes," Mrs. Esther Hill, director of the Bureau of Boarding House Licensure, emphasized. Boarding houses are for persons who desire a home but are able to care for themselves and have no need for nursing care or supervision. This has made it necessary to transfer some persons from boarding houses for other care.

The licensed boarding house can legally provide only room, board and laundry. This type of living situation is a newly recognized level of care which is between that of the private residence and the licensed nursing home.

Burglars get $515 worth of belongings

William Jenkins reported to Sikeston police that burglars took $515 worth of personal belongings from his home on Gladys Street between 8 p.m. Friday and 10 a.m. Saturday.

Taken, according to Jenkins, were 40 tapes valued at $250; a 22- caliber rifle, $25; a projector, $60; and a black and white television set valued at $180.

Entry apparently was gained to the home by prying open a door.

Ron Graviett, 114 Pin Oak Drive, told police a tape player valued at $50 was taken from his car sometime Saturday while parked at his house.

Mark Couch, 402 Carroll Ave., told police a tape player was taken from his car between 1:45 and 5:30 p.m. Saturday while the car was parked in the Merchants Parking Lot on Center Street. The player was valued at $79.

Charlie Scudder, 104 Cardinal Drive, told police today that a 12- volt batter was taken from his pickup truck between 4 p.m. Sunday and 7 a.m. today.

The truck was parked near the home when the theft occurred.

Sabot injured while hunting

Bruce Sabot, 14, of Route Four was treated for a shotgun wound Saturday night at Missouri Delta Community Hospital.

Police said Sabot was shot while dove hunting in New Madrid County on the G. B. Greer farm Saturday. The shotgun blast which struck him was fired by his hunting companion, Ricky Robertson, 15. Police said the weapon was a 12-gauge shotgun.

His wounds were listed as minor, and he was released following treatment.

of Thursday's subcommittee meeting.

Also necessary for application to the DOT is a detailed informative report of each county and a joint report combining facts about the two counties. Information for these reports is being gathered by Robert B. Hendrix, executive vice president of the Cape Girardeau Chamber of Commerce.

Seier pointed out that although it is necessary for each county to appoint a county port authority, its members would become inactive once the Southeast Missouri Regional Port Authority is appointed. He said there would be nothing prohibiting appointment of the county port authority members to the district port authority. The joint agreement also could be amended to allow other counties to become members of the port district, he observed.

It was noted that the decision by the DOT whether to allow formation of a Southeast Missouri District Port Authority would rely heavily upon a U. S. Army Corps of Engineers feasibility study which would be conducted following the formal application.

The application would also be subject to a public hearing like that scheduled for Tuesday in St. Louis on a St. Charles County application. Authority advisory committee members from Cape and Scott counties plan to attend that hearing and to visit port districts in Memphis and Greenville, Miss., for information.

three miles north of Highway 60 in Butler County by a car driven by Murry Bartlett, 39, of Cicero, Ill.

Suffering minor injuries as he and a companion were running north in the southbound lane was Edmund Carmack, 16, of Poplar Bluff.

The accident occurred as Bartlett was passing another vehicle, saw Carmack, applied his brakes and bumped Carmack as the car skidded to a stop.

He was taken to Lucy Lee Hospital in Poplar Bluff.

Gary Martin, 23, of Kennett received minor injuries at 5 a.m. Sunday on Route K one- half mile east of Bragg City when the car he was driving west ran off the road into a ditch at a high rate of speed.

He was taken to the Dunklin County hospital.

Vance Leffel, 59, of Dexter suffered minor injuries at 6 p.m. Sunday on a gravel road three miles north of Dexter when his eastbound pickup truck ran off the road and struck a tree.

He was taken to Dexter Memorial Hospital.

Home destroyed by fire

Only a three legged table and a child's rocking horse were saved from the C. L. Lane home as fire destroyed the five- room, frame home one half mile west of Blodgett on Route U early today. No one was at home at the time of the fire. Fire crews from Sikeston, Morley and Miner were unable to save the house.

Fire destroys frame house near Blodgett

BLODGETT— Firemen from Sikeston, Miner and Morley fought a fire this morning which destroyed the C. L. Lane home on Route U, just west of the Interstate 55 overpass.

Firemen were unable to save the old five- room, frame house, but kept the fire from spreading to a barn and tool shed.

Fire Chief Larry Linnemeyer said neither Mr. and Mrs. Lane, nor their six children were at home when the fire started shortly before 9 a.m.

The cause of the fire was unknown.

At 1:50 p.m. Saturday firemen were called to the Earl Cook home, 404 Prosperity, when a candle caught a cabinet on fire in the bathroom, Firemen said there was slight damage to the bathroom.

At 7:50 p.m. Saturday garbage caught fire in a large metal trash container in the alley behind Moore's Ace Hardware, 118 N. New Madrid. Firemen said there was minor damage to the container.

They said the fire may have been caused by a discarded cigarette.

Nixon pardon draws protests

PITTSBURGH, Pa. (AP) — President Ford today encountered the first signs of public protest over his unconditional pardon of Richard M. Nixon, a surprise move that pushed his young administraton into the backwash of Watergate,

"The honeymoon is over," one sign proclaimed in red letters as Ford arrived at a downtown hotel for a speech to an urban transportation conference.

His pardon for Nixon on Sunday ruptured his rapport with Congress and sparked the protest resignation of a top aide.

More than a dozen signs protesting the Nixon pardon were sprinkled through a crowd of more than 500 persons who waited on the sidewalk for Ford's arrival.

Several of the signs demanded amnesty for Vietnam draft resisters and Nixon top aides.

"There is law, no justice. Pardon all criminals," said one sign. "No pardon, Nixon trial first," said another, and one said: "Okay Jerry, now pardon war resisters."

Newsmen a few feet from Ford heard no booing or catcalls as the President shook hands with those along the rope barriers. The crowd applauded as he passed.

Presidential advisers in Washington were assessing the probable political damage from Ford's disclosure of a "free, full and absolute" pardon for Nixon for any criminal conduct during his presidency.

The pardon was followed within minutes by a Nixon statement of remorse at "my mistakes over Watergate."

And, in the ensuing hours, there were these major disclosures and developments:

—Jerald F. terHorst, a close Ford friend and adviser, quit as White House press secretary, saying "mercy, like justice, must ... be even-handed" and "I couldn't in good conscience support the President's decision ... even though I knew he took that action in good conscience."

—Many Democrats and some Republicans in Congress voiced dismay at the pardon, contending it set a double standard of justice. But other Republicans, including Vice President designate Nelson A. Rockefeller, hailed it as an act of compassion and courage.

—Lawyers for former Nixon aides and associates began reshaping their strategy for the Watergate cover-up trial, and at least one defendant, H.R. Haldeman, planned new efforts to delay the trial now set to begin Sept. 30.

—Ford aides made public an agreement they had reached with Nixon to preserve his White House files for at least three years for possible court use. But the agreement allows the former president to destroy any White House tape recordings after September 1979.

Although Ford's announcement caught the capital and the country by surprise, sources said it had been preceded by 10 days of legal deliberations and negotiations with Nixon and special Watergate prosecutor Leon Jaworski.

Doctor sought in death of his former wife

KENNETT, Mo.(AP)—Dr. Norman Garrison Jr., of Corinth, Miss., has been charged with first-degree murder in the slaying of his exwife, Lee Ann Garrison, 32, police said.

Mrs. Garrison's bloodstained body was discovered early Sunday in her fashionable Kennett home by her 13 - year - old daughter, Kim.

An autopsy showed she had been beaten with a blunt instrument then shot once in the head. Her body, clad only in a nightgown, was found in the bedroom.

Garrison, now in Mississippi, was charged with murder late Sunday night in a warrant issued by Dunklin County Prosecuting Attorney Charles Baker, but has not yet been served.

The Garrisons were divorced in June and their three children had been living with their father.

Garrison was facing contempt of court charges in Dunklin County for nonpayment of alimony and failing to return the children to Mrs. Garrison in July as required by the divorce ruling.

Attorneys for Mrs. Garrison had been preparing similar charges against Garrison in Mississippi since he could not be extradited to Missouri to stand trial. Mrs. Garrison had been awarded $100,000 in alimony by the divorce court.

Lancaster is deputy clerk

Lynn Lancaster, 27, has been appointed deputy city clerk, effective Oct. 1, City Manager Charles Church said today.

Lancaster will work under City Clerk John Vaughn, and is expected to replade Vaughn following his retirement which has been announced for Jan. 1.

Lancaster is currently assistant director of health planning for the Bootheel Regional Planning Commission at Malden.

A graduate of Sikeston High School, he graduated from Southeast Missouri State University at Cape Girardeau in 1968.

Prior to joining the BRPC, he owned a franchise restaurant.

Lancaster is married and has a 3-year- old son. The family lives on Linda Drive.

Port district draft to be submitted

CAPE GIRARDEAU-- The final draft of a cooperative agreement between Cape Girardeau and Scott counties creating a Southeast Missouri Regional Port District will be submitted Sept. 16 to the subcommittee of the two-county port authority advisory committee.

A tentative agreement was accepted Thursday by a six- member subcommittee at a meeting in the Chamber of Commerce building.

Approval of the agreement is one of several steps necessary in requesting state Department of Transportation approval for forming a regional port authority in Cape Girardeau.

Upon approval of the draft, the agreement must be adopted by the County Courts of both counties, which would then appoint members to the regional port authority.

The subcommittee specified that each County Court be allowed to appoint four members for staggered terms of one, two, three and four years. The eight-member port authority board would then select a ninth member to serve a four- year term and to serve as chairman. He could either be selected from within the original eight members or from outside the board, and as chairman, would be authorized to vote only in cases of tie votes.

The only qualification for members, other than those outlined in the port authority law, is that they be residents of the county they would represent.

The agreement states that the counties "agree to and pledge each other faithful cooperation in the future planning and development of a regional port district, holding high trust for the benefit of its people and of the state...especially blessings and natural advantages thereof.

"The counties will cooperate to promote the general welfare, to encourage private capital investment, to endeavor to increase the volume of commerce, and to promote the establishment of a free trade zone within the regional port district," it states.

A. J. Seier, Cape Girardeau County prosecuting attorney said he spent most of the Labor Day weekend preparing the proposal and found it difficult because..." "You are breaking new ground here." He said "it had to be prepared from scratch because, frankly, I could find no reference to any previous agreement whereby counties have co- operated to this extent before."

The agreement contains a list of 19 powers designated to the port authority. These powers were taken directly from the port authority law, he noted. It also specified that the authority be given any additional powers that shall be jointly conferred upon it by the two County Courts or by the Missouri Legislature.

The agreement is one of six major steps necessary in submitting application for a port authority to the DOT.

In addition, each County Court is required to adopt a resolution forming a port authority and appointment members to respective county port authorities, which Scott County has already done. The Cape County Court received a copy Thursday of a proposed resolution prepared by Seier, but tabled action on it until today, pending the outcome

2 die in traffic

An elderly Campbell man was killed in an auto- train collision, a young Campbell man was killed in a motorcycle accident and 11 persons suffered injuries in eight area traffic accidents which occurred over the weekend, the highway patrol announced today.

James Edward Langdon, 80, of Campbell Route Two was killed at 1 p.m. Saturday when a westbound train struck the right side of his northbound car as it crossed the railroad track on Locust Street in Campbell.

The highway patrol said the car was knocked clear of the tracks on the north side of the road and that four other vehicles were damaged by falling objects. No other injuries were reported, however.

Langdon's body was taken to the Hoggard Funeral Home in Piggott, Ark.

Ronald Petry, 22, of Campbell died at 8:05 p.m. Friday at Lucy Lee Hospital in Poplar Bluff of injuries sustained in a motorcycle accident at 6:50 p.m. Friday on Route HH in Campbell.

Petry's body was taken to Landess Funeral Home in Campbell.

Three persons were seriously injured and three suffered minor injuries in an accident at 6:15 p.m. Saturday on a township road three miles south of Kennett.

The accident occurred when a northbound car driven by David Gaulden, 20, of Rector Ark., crossed the center line on a curve and collided head on with a pickup truck driven south by Marily Sue Davis, 24, of Kennett, who received minor injuries.

Gaulden suffered serious injuries, as did a passenger in his car, Kelly Jean Breslin, 6, of Kennett, and one passenger in the Davis truck, Reggie Mabel Jr., 19, of Kennett.

Also injured in the Davis vehicle were Ronald Keith Bradshaw, 19, and William Potts, 20, of Kennett, who received minor injuries.

All of the injured were taken to Dunklin County Memorial Hospital in Kennett, but Gaulden who was later transferred to Baptist Memorial Hospital in Memphis, Tenn.

Patricia Haney, 17, of Charleston suffered minor injuries at 10 a.m. Saturday on an unmarked road two and one- half miles southwest of Charleston when an another vehicle traveling south on the wrong side of the road forced her northbound pickup truck off the road into a ditch.

She was taken to Missouri Delta Community Hospital in Sikeston.

Michael Speer, 18, of Advance suffered minor injuries at 1:45 p.m. Saturday on Route E five miles east of Advance when the car he was driving ran off the road at a high rate of speed.

He was taken to Southeast Missouri Hospital in Cape Girardeau.

A pedestrian was injured at 8:15 p.m. Saturday when he was struck on Route T

Girl hospitalized from overdose

Jeanie Meyers, 17, of the Dunn Hotel, was listed in satisfactory condition today in the intensive care unit of Missouri Delta Community Hospital after she took an overdose of pills Saturday.

Police said the girl took 45- to 50 Elavil pills at 8:55 p.m. Saturday while in front of the Dunn Hotel with a companion.

Police said she was taken to the hospital, treated and placed in intensive care.

The companion said Miss Meyers, had been depressed.

Jamie Walker named 1974 Miss Bloomfield

BLOOMFIELD — Jamie Walker, 16, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Walker was chosen 1974 Miss Bloomfield in the annual contest Saturday night. Jamie is a junior at Bloomfield High School.

Theresa Atchley, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Atchley and a senior, was chosen first attendant. Second attendant was Miss Brenda Link, 16, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vader Link. Brenda is a junior.

This year's contest was sponsored by the Junior Federated Club and the Chamber of Commerce. The new Miss Bloomfield and her attendants will reign over homecoming festivities scheduled for Tuesday through Saturday of this week and will participate in the homecoming parade, scheduled for 5:30 p.m. Thursday.

Lewises charged with assault in burning death of 3 children

BLOOMFIELD--- The parents of three young children who burned to death Aug. 1, 1973 in a fire that destroyed their home are in the Stoddard County jail today after being arrested Thursday in Sikeston.

Melvin Leon Lewis, 27, and his wife Judith, 26, have been charged by Stoddard County Prosecuting Attorney Tom Baker with three counts of assault. Also arrested and charged was David Larue, 40, of Gray Ridge; who is now in the state penitentiary.

The Stoddard County sheriff's office would not divulge any information to the Daily Standard when they inquired into the alleged arrests Friday morning. A deputy told the paper Friday night he did not know where the Standard could reach Sheriff Ralph Mouser for comment and the Stoddard County prosecutor declined to release any information Friday night, although the story had already appeared in the Dexter Statesman.

According to published reports, three of the Lewis' four children Melvin Leon, Jr., 7, Jody, 6, and Mark, 5, perished in the fire that destroyed their rural home near Essex. The fourth child Michael Lewis, 4, was carried by the parents from the burning house.

Stoddard County sheriff, Ralph Mouser, said the Lewises stated after the fire that they awoke about 2 a.m. on the night of the fire to find their house in flames and made an unsuccessful attempt to save the three children who were in a separate bedroom.

The sheriff said that at the time of the fire, he suspected arson, but did not state this and began quietly investigating the fire. He said the case broke with the confession of Carl Cooper of the Gray Ridge- Essex area that he was involved in the arson plot with the Lewises.

Sheriff Mouser said Cooper underwent a polygraph test which indicated his story was true. A similiar test was given the Lewises and these results also indicated they were involved in the arson plot, although the tests cannot be used as evidence in a court of law, the sheriff said.

Each face the same three charges of assault with fire on the bodies of the three children by "feloniously, willfully, premeditatedly and deliberately burning the bodies, inflicting mortal wounds from which they died." No bonds have been set.

"I have some idea as to the motive for the killings," Sheriff Mouser said, although he declined to disclose his theory.

The Lewises have lived in Sikeston since the fire.

The trio will be arraigned Thursday in Stoddard County Magistrate Court.

BIG BROTHER
BUCKLES UP

A strong move is underway in Congress to repeal the Federal regulation requiring the interlock seatbelt and buzzer system in new cars. This blatant example of "big brotherism" at its worst has generated more constituent mail than almost any other recent issue, according to some members of Congress.

"I personally believe every driver should use seatbelts and I believe they should be encouraged to do so," said Sen. Thomas Eagleton (D-Mo.) in a recent speech. "But I do not believe that the Federal Government has a right to order an individual, in a matter that concerns only himself, to do something that it thinks is in his best interest."

Eagleton, along with Sen. James Buckley (Cons., R-N.Y.) and 13 other Senators, has introduced a bill which would require auto manufacturers to continue offering such equipment, but would leave its purchase by car buyers optional. The bill, already passed by the House, would repeal a regulation in effect less than one year.

The interlock and buzzer system — annoyingly familiar to anyone with a 1974 car — is not the safety panacea that it sponsors claim it to be. There is a potential danger of attempting to restart a stalled car quickly in moving traffic when a belt is not fastened. And, at any rate, a recent study by the Insurance Institute for Highway Safety concluded that only 18 per cent of drivers of buzzer- equipped cars use seatbelts, as compared to 16 per cent without buzzers.

Beyond the questions of the merits of seatbelts, however, is the more important philosophical question involved. In the words of Senator Eagleton, the current regulation "is a direct intrusion on the right of any individual to make a free and responsible judgment, on his own, for his own self-protection ... for every owner of a 1974 car, this buzzer and interlock system is a daily reminder of where the Federal Government has run amok."

In the words of Mr. Clifton C. Garvin, Jr., president of the EXXON Corporation, "The "The actions we must take to deal with our energy problem fall into two obvious categories. First, we ...(must continue) to make a planned and orderly reduction in energy consumption and second, we need a major effort to expand energy resources as rapidly as possible. Both of these steps are needed to get us safely through the next decade, when we will have to make the best of our increasing dependence on petroleum. Both steps are equally essential to ensure a smooth transition to a new era that lies beyond -- the years after 1985, when new energy forms will have to meet a larger and larger share of total energy demand."

THE ENORMOUS OBLIGATION
OF EVERY BUSINESS TO MAKE A PROFIT

When a business makes no profit, it can no longer afford modern equipment. So its costs and prices increase, its customers refuse to pay needlessly high prices — and the business dies.

When a company makes a small profit, it only just gets by, but gradually loses business to the company which makes a large profit and so can afford to keep its equipment modern, its costs low, and its prices reasonable, its jobs high.

But when a company makes a healthy profit, it can afford the most modern equipment which, wisely used by good workmen, means its costs and prices can be lower and lower. Then more and more people can afford the product, more and more workmen will be needed to make it, more and more taxes will be contributed to run the government, and more divdends will reward the investors who make it all possible.

So profit — a good healthy profit — is more than desirable ... it's an obligation.

"WITHOUT FEAR
OR FAVOR

When you get a judge of the Supreme Court and a Prosecuting Attorney, and charge them both with violating the game laws -- that's news.

And that's what happened Sunday over in the New Madrid area. State Supreme Court Judge John Bordgett and New Madrid Prosecuting Attorney Hal Hunter, along with a pair of juveniles, were cited for violation of the game laws.

Hal Hunter is a power in Democratic politics, and Judge Bardgett evidently has some political muscle or he wouldn't have been appointed to the Supreme Court by former Gov. Hearnes.

But the agent who cited them should be commended. That is what is known as "enforcing the law without fear or favor" -- a shopworn phrase that seems to fit in this instance.

If they're guilty-- and neither man has publicly denied it -- then they should be punished severely.

They both known the games laws. They are both sworn to uphold the law. If they are guilty they have violated their trust and should suffer the consequences.

MOST OVER-REGULATED
NATION IN THE WEST

Soon after devaluation of the dollar, foreign corporations started casting covetous eyes on several U. S. corporations. With cheap dollars, they could be bought at bargain- basement prices.

And they had other attractions. The United States is the most lucrative market in the world by far for almost everything, and there was unemployment in the United States at a time, since passed, when many nations were suffering from a condition known as "minus employment."

It seems that in order to keep her factories going West Germany had to import 1.5 million workers from Turkey, Greece, Spain and Portugal. One-third of all the workers in Switzerland were imported. In France, Algerians manned the assembly lines at Renault.

To the foreign corporations, the United States seemed like the promised land.

The era of disillusionment has set in. For the foreign corporations soon discovered a fact that even American businessmen are only dimly aware of.

This is the most- regulated country in the Western world. The bureaucracy, red tape, the welter of pip- squeak rules are equaled only by totalitarian governments.

Most Americans think of Western Europe as semi-Socialist. They are. In Britain, for example, the government owns the coal mines, the cable telegraph and telephone systems, the light - and - power companies and many of the steel mills.

Everywhere in Western Europe, the government owns the railroads. To a European, the idea of a privately owned railroad is about as incomprehensible as the idea of a privately owned highway. Nearly all the airlines are government owned, too.

However, there is very little regulation of the companies that remain in private hands, which is most of them. Britain, for example, has no banking laws at all.

In Harold Lavine's report, he cites the bureaucratic jungle created by the Federal Trade Commission which foreign corporations have encountered in the U. S. They soon believe that the FTC is harassing them because it doesn't like foreigners. They are wrong. The FTC just doesn't like business, domestic or foreign, but it loves red tape. And it doesn't seem to get any better as Congress adds more regulations on business which the Founding Fathers never would have dreamed of under the Constitution.

SOCIAL PROGRAMS
NOW COSTLIEST
FEDERAL SPENDING

According to Tax Foundation, Inc., that while the current inflation has focused attention on the plight of the fixed- income elderly and the poor, Federal spending under the broad budget heading of "human resources" is setting new records.

All "human resources" programs (education, manpower, health, veterans' benefits and income security) topped defense outlays in 1971 and now account for 49.8 per cent -- $151.5 billion -- of the 1975 budget.

The fiscal 1975 budget for the first time calls for outlays of more than $100 billion for income security programs. In 1974, outlays for these programs (Social Security, unemployment insurance, public assistance and related programs) topped national defense spending for the first time. This gap, less than $5 billion in 1974, will widen to more than $12 billion in 1975.

Spending for health ($26.3 billion) and income security ($100.1 billion) totals $126.4 billion in the new budget. This compares to $108.3 billion in the fiscal 1974 expenditures.

The five - year rise in income security spending has been 129 per cent (from $43.7 billion) and health spending is up 104 per cent ($12.9 billion).

In a report before, Tax Foundation showed that the health and income security programs will take $1,665 of the average Federal tax burden of $4,013 per household in fiscal 1975.

The Foundation added that with Congressional approval of a national health insurance program possible this year, the outlook is for a continuation of increasing social welfare expenditures. Besides the new taxes on employer and employe set in the variety of health proposals under study, there are government subsidies of benefits to the poor and the near- poor involved in health plans.

For other social programs, spending increases are already established. Tax Foundation noted that this year more than half of some 80 million individual taxpayers will pay more Social Security taxes than Federal income taxes.

The Federal food stamp program also rises to a $4 billion high in fiscal 1975, a billion more than for the year ended June 30.

An example of a much smaller activity is that under which pregnant women, new mothers and children are supplied a good diet. This will cost $100 million this year compared to $40 million in 1974.

So if you've read this far, we hope you will discuss this with the Congressional candidates who come around asking for votes -- so they can go back to Washington and spend us broke, for sure. In Kansas, we have a choice based on the records of who has voted with the majority party in control of Congress which hasn't changed since FDR.

COSTS TO RECKON WITH

Because many people have considered it profane to consider the dollars and cents cost of pollution control, little is known about this side of the environmental picture. In an Address, entitled "Pollution Control: The Missing Data," the chairman of the board and chief executive officer of North American Rockwell Corporation, Mr. Willard F. Rockwell, Jr., endeavors to lift the veil from the pollution control price tag and show that there is an inescapable cost benefit ratio when it comes to nonproductive environmental expenditures.

Mr. Rockwell cites the escalating figures on a national pollution abatement program. They range from $71 billion to an Environmental Protection Agency figure of $105 billion over a five- year period. The United States Senate has passed a so- called Zero Discharge Bill aimed at removing all pollutants from the nation's waters within the next year or so. Few people realize what this means. In Mr. Rockwell's words, "The first 85-90 percent of water pollutants can be removed at a twenty- year cost, nationally, of just over $60 billion. To remove approximately 9 percent more would cost a total of $119 billion. To raise the removal level to 100 percent would cost a total of $317 billion!" He emphasizes that it is difficult to be specific on these costs because of lack of data. But the figures give an idea of the astronomical price tag that can be attached to pollution abatement unless some reasonable balance is struck between the practical and the ideal.

For the sake of the million or more people who come onto payrolls for the first time each year, the nation must be ready to accept something less than a 100 percent pollution- free environment. The alternative will be to price ourselves out of world markets and create an intolerable unemployment problem in the U.S.

COLOMBIA'S
HIGH-FLYING BANK

If you owned a bank and your potential customers were unable to come to your place of business, what would you do?

That's the dilemma that faced the Banco de Bogota. Colombia's population is scattered throughout vast rural areas — far from banking facilities in the nation's capital.

Since these people could not get to the bank, the bank went to them via a small plane carrying two tellers and two clerks — thus bringing in banking service where none had existed before.

Once a week, the plane (known as Aero- Banco) circles the nation, setting up as a branch operation in airport centers accessible to ranchers, farmers, small businessmen and individuals.

The plane service is also used for ferrying medicines and machines during emergencies, thereby establishing a most favorable image for the bank in the public mind.

IT HAPPENS TO
MANY OF US

The state Revenue Department is reported to be behind in making income tax refunds this year.

The Republican state revenue director, as a Democrat did under Governor Hearnes, blames it on the computer system that is being used in the Revenue Office, claiming it fouled up the records and hasn't yet been straightened out.

We can't argue they are wrong. It took the Appeal a year to get credit for overpayments on a new reproduction machine because the computer used by a nationally known company never caught up with the facts of the case, even though the company did its best to correct the error. We finally got credit for around $500.

The more we see of computers the more we're inclined to think that maybe they weren't such a great boon to business accounting after all.

Intelligence Digest in its analysis of Russian plans and motives in Cyprus has warned that the Communist idea of detente is, quite simply, what they have they hold while all else is negotiable.

Cyprus is negotiable, South Vietnam is negotiable, Taiwan is negotiable, Berlin is negotiable. You name it and if it is not in Communist hands then its status, relationship with the West, political, economic and social future is negotiable "in the interests of peace and international friendship, etc."

The ruthless exploitation of national rivalries and historic enmities is all in accordance with the teachings of Marx and Lenin. Cyprus is a vital NATO base and Greece and Turkey important members of NATO on the flank, a buffer or wedge between Communist Europe and the Middle East. Russia has everything to gain and nothing to lose by using agents provacateurs to stir up trouble.

There will now be a carefully orchestrated propaganda campaign ostensibly designed to "relieve tension" and to "neutralize a trouble spot" in the "interests of world peace" in accordance with the "spirit of detente." The real aim will be to get NATO out of Cyprus.

Intelligence Digest reports the Soviet Union intends to use its massive naval and military power to put pressure on vital points and to use the technique of localized crises to frighten people into taking a neutral position which will be to the disadvantage of the West. The Soviet Union calculates that if "detente" is properly exploited in accordance with the teachings and methods of "scientific communism," then the days of the West will be numbered.

It must be remembered at all times that when dealing with the Communists we are dealing with people who are utterly dedicated to an ideology which admits of no morality other than what is expedient to further its ultimate goal of world revolution.

The Cyprus episode is a classic example. Whoever suggested Mr. Sampson as the new "President" executed a brilliant masterstroke because of all the Greek Cypriots he was the one calculated to arouse the Turkish community and bring Turkish intervention, which, incidentally, Moscow supported.

TROUBLES FOR
THE COWBOY

The Cowboy seems to be in trouble.

And to anyone who follows southeast Missouri politics, "The Cowboy" means W. L. Ramsey, longtime Sheriff of neighboring New Madrid County.

There have been charges, as yet unproven, that prisoners have been mistreated in the New Madrid County jail. And there are further charges that prisoners have been employed on the Cowboy's farm, in violation of the state law.

It should be emphasized that none of these charges have been proven as yet. But an invesitgation is underway.

Cowboy Ramsey has become an institution in Southeast Missouri in recent years --- both as a political figure and as a law enforcement officer.

Many persons close to the situation will tell you that Cowboy is a good law enforcement official. State Highway Patrolmen will not comment for publication, but at least some of them are known to feel that he is an efficient sheriff, and a man who works well with the state organization.

But Cowboy is also a politician of considerable muscle in Southeast Missouri. A political machine still exists in New Madrid County and Cowboy Ramsey is a part of it, many allege. And at least a few think he is the head of it. Others disagree. But all agree that he is a potent political force.

With his brother Randall, who lives in Parma, he operates a big Southeast Missouri farm, The sheriff admits they were but says the prisoners were paid reasonable wages. But working prisoners on private farms is against the law, it is charged.

One of the sheriff's recent political ventures was to try to help his brother, Randall, get the Democratic nomination for the State Senate two years ago. This effort failed when Ramsey was beaten by Senator Nelson Tinnin, but it should be noted that Ramsey carried New Madrid County by a big majority - with his brother's help, of course.

So "The Cowboy", as he is known by many, may be in a bit of trouble. The charges made against his operation are serious and should be fully investigated. The sheriff says he welcomes such an investigation.

Regardless of his efficiency in other phases of his duties, if the charges of abuse of prisoners is true, then the people of New Madrid County have a right to know it. And, if the charges are true, then they should be corrected and those who violated the law should be held accountable.

IT'S UP TO US
TO CHANGE

Remember the old joke about the doting mother who, when seeing her soldier son marching with his regiment in a parade, said proudly to her companion, "Just look — everybody is out of step but my Johnnie!"

Unfortunately, until recently, most of us Americans felt that way about ourselves when it came to the metric system of measurement. Everybody was out of step except us. Now we know we're out of step with the rest of the world.

From the early days of our Republic, the United States has repeatedly considered the question of going metric. Today, as we approach the second centennial of our nation, it is no longer a question of whether we should go metric. It's now a question of how to make the transition as painless as possible.

We can get along with our neighbors in this shrinking world even though we speak different languages — but we must have a common measurement tongue if we are to communicate with one another in quantitave terms.

LAW ENFORCEMENT

Major crime in the United States increased by six percent in 1973, corrected statistics of the Federal Bureau of Investigation showed. Original compilations had reflected a five percent increase over 1973. So alarming is the crime trend that Atty. Gen. William Saxbe told high ranking police officials that a system of federal police might be inevitable in future years. He said this state of affairs could come about if present law enforcement efforts fail.

A federal police state is a dangerous thing. We simply must not let that come to pass. On the other hand there is the danger of the criminal element taking over. This cannot be tolerated by the Republic either. Local and state law enforcement agencies must bring crime under control. The police have to use restraint in protecting the rights of the innocent but their hands must be unshackled to deal with the hardened criminal. Those shackles were imposed during the permissive 1960s. Many officers were actually afraid to live up to their responsibilities of state law because of the fear of federal court decisions. Local and state officers were in a bind. The U.S. Supreme Court has corrected some of the wrongs done to the police but the fear of the federal penitentiary still prevails in the thinking of many officers.

We, the citizens, should insist on clean law enforcement. It must be steady enforcement, however. Police "drives" on crime are worthless. The constant pressure of the law must be felt by the criminal underworld. That is the proper way to reduce those crime statistics. A federal police system is not the answer. HLH

WASHINGTON -- After hydrofoiling under the Iron Curtain some weeks ago, and speeding by car across some of its instant-death border strips (along well- marked routes since this was no movie script) and jetting in and out of Communist capitals, I came to a strange conclusion: yes, there is an Iron Curtain.

It's lifted for a while by the detente-minded USSR. To pharaphrase Shakespeare, "the prince of darkness is a gentleman." The revolution is being sugar-coated as sweet bait for the purchase of critical American industrial and computerized expertise on long, long-term 6 per cent interest rate credits.

But mistake it not. The Soviets are still spying, sabotaging, electronically bugging, surveilling and skillfully plotting to destroy the very same American capitalism which it is now entertaining so graciously. But, in the words of a man whose identity would mean his death, the Soviets are the same ideologists and killers of Stalin's day.

To the Soviets, this is a one-way detente. Though the revolution has low visibility these day it grinds on inexorble. The Soviet politburo is convinced world capitalism will collapse from inflation corrosion. And the party-- personified by Leonid Brezhnev -- believes it can win much of Western Eruope by the ballot instead of the bullet.

Thus its affiliates abroad have been directed to behave like patriots -- until after the deluge. The Italian Communist party--with one of the toughest, heavily armed and financed underground army and espionage apparatus--has in dialectic fashion declared itself pro-west. The powerful French Communist party and its General Confederation of Labor has passed on word that its workers and wage demands will be gentle-- vive la France.

But most dramatically the script is being played in lovely Portugal among its gentle people under perpetual sunshine. There you have the perfect profile of today's patriotic Communist party--gentlemen until after the national democratic election which the military junta unwisely will set for a people not yet ready for the polls.

The Portuguese Communist party (PCP) today--to prove its sense of responsibility-- is more conservative than America's Right To Work Committee when it comes to labor action.

To prove this I must report the sardine strike. Portuguese fishermen are a friendly albeit sometimes hungry lot. Their crafts are old. They can't chase the ever-receding swarms of sardines. So their income has swindled. On June 15 shortly after the military junta seized power, the sardine fishermen struck. They had been paid by canners by the catch. Now they wanted a guarantee of $40 a week--which would include the cost of maintaining their small craft, high-cost fuel, repairs, etc. They were backed by shellfish gatherers and some boat operators.

The Lisbon Communist party polituro screamed. This was unpatriotic. It would unhinge the government. It was a capitalist trick really. Then the canners (fish packing plant owners) were contacted. They flew to Stockholm. No one quite knows with whom they dealt. But they returned happy.

On July 16, the Soviet refrigerated fishing vessel "Nackichevan" steamed into Oporto, the big northern industrial city. On board were 3,400 tons of frozen sardines and an average of 400 tons were unloaded daily. There could no longer be any shortage of sardines to can. The "Nackickhevan" could steam to the fish-swarming waters between the Azores and Cannary Island and back to Oporto indefinitely.

On July 25 the Communists working with the canners had smashed the strike. The fishermen returned to work. They had to feed their families. So they took far less money than they had originally demanded.

There are many such stories of the newly patriotic Communist party under Minister without Portfolio Alvaro Cunhal who was trained for years by the Soviet Communist party for just such an assignment. For example, shortly after the sardine strike the Portuguese postal workers truck for several days. Once again the Communists swung into action. There were riotous Communists street demonstrations against the strikers. Leaders were mauled. Headquarters were smashed.

And believe me, the Portuguese postal workers under the old regime almost literally were slaves. They worked such long hours, it was often senseless to go home to sleep. They were paid less than $30 a week. Some as low as $20 and $25. Theirs was a simple economic strike. But the Communits brutalized the strikers. All in the hope that the good people of Portugal would vote for the CP during the next election. Time enought to turn the screws and create a Soviet Marxist state after the balloting if they won power peacefully. And the thrust of the party's propaganda is the charge that the multi-nationals international capitalism--especially American capitalism-- are responsible for the impoverished plight of the proletariat. Communist journalists and Communist-dominated journals pound away daily at this anti-American theme.

Thus it goes all over free Europe. The hand that spreads the caviar and pours the vodka for U.S. businessmen in Moscow is the same which writes the hate scripts against American business across the continent. The Soviets want that most- favored - nation low American tarrif treatment.

Then the hand will switch from caviar to clubs.

Commodities trading control tops agenda

WASHINGTON (AP) — Control of commodities trading and copyright regulations top the Senate agenda this week, while the House returns from an extended Labor Day recess.

A showdown is expected in the Senate over whether to require broadcasters and other record users to pay copyright royalities to singers and other performers.

But first, at today's session, the Senate was to take up a bill providing for expanded government regulation of the nation's commodities-future market.

A strengthened version of a measure already passed by the House, it would set up an independent commission empowered to seek injunctions against abuses in the $500 billion-a-year commodity trading business.

The House returns Wednesday from an extended Labor Day recess. The Senate returned a week earlier.

The initial measure before the House will be a bill, prompted by recent controversy over floating rate notes, that would give federal agencies discretionary authority to control the issue of debt obligations by banks and other financial institutions.

In mid-week the Senate Post Office and Civil Service Committee is to consider a resolution to disapprove President Ford's deferral for three months of a proposed 5.5 per cent pay raise for federal employes and military personnel.

Delaying the increase from Oct. 1 to Jan. 1 would save $700 million, but government employe unions have mounted a campaign against the postponement.

The President's action, part of his budget-cutting efforts to fight inflation, can be overriden by majority vote in either the Senate or the House.

The Senate Rules Committee also has set a meeting for Wednesday at which it hopes to be able to announce a time for starting public hearings on Nelon A. Rockefeller's nomination to be vice president.

88 believed dead in jetliner crash

ATHENS, Greece (AP) — All 88 persons aboard a TWA jetliner that crashed Sunday in the Ionian sea are believed dead. At least 17 of the 79 passengers and some of the nine crew members were Americans.

The Boeing 707 jet was en route from Tel Aviv to Los Angeles with stops in Athens, Rome and New York. It plunged into a stormy sea 60 miles west of Kefallinia island 40 minutes after leaving Athens.

By midnight Sunday, 12 hours after the crash, seven bodies had been recovered by the crew of a Greek freighter, the first ship to reach the scene.

A telephone caller in Beirut reported that an organization called the Nationalist Youth for the Liberation of Palestine had sabotaged the plane. But the Palestine Liberation Organization, the umbrella group for the major guerrilla organizations, said the call was a hoax and a "Zionist fiction" to discredit the Palestinian cause.

The Greek merchant marine ministry said an Alitalia plane reported seeing the707 "plunging steeply into the sea with one engine on fire" shortly before noon. Search pilots flying over the site soon after said all they saw were "remnants of wreckage and bodies floating on the surface."

TWA officials said 49 of the passengers aboard boarded at Tel Aviv and another 30 got on in Athens. It said 17 of those who boarded in Israel were Americans, including one infant, but the nationalities of the Athens passengers were not reported.

17 die on highways

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Seventeen persons died in Missouri traffic accidents over the weekend.

Four perished in one mishap Friday night and a 24-year-old Fulton man was charged in that incident with manslaughter and driving while intoxicated. Kenneth Tribble was held in the Laclede County Jail at Lebanon in lieu of $20,000 bail pending a hearing Sept. 17.

The highway patrol said Trimble's car rounded a curve on Missouri 32 west of Lebanon and slid sideways into the opposite lane, being struck broadside by an auto driven by Janet L. Carney, 19, Lebanon.

Mrs. Carney's two baby daughters — one a year old, the other one month — were killed. Danny R. Showmaker, 24, and Moneta L. Vaughn, 18, both of Fulton, were killed in Trimble's car.

Two persons died in separate accidents Sunday.

William Clay Graves III, 23, St. Joseph, was a passenger in a car involved in a collision in St. Joseph.

Phyllis J. Dube, 29, Iberia, Mo., died in a two-car collision near her hometown, just east of the Lake of the Ozarks, on Missouri 42.

There were four accidents Friday and Saturday claiming two lives each.

Rita Dameron, 15, and her sister, Dora, 5, both of Moberly, were struck Saturday by a truck that ran off a Moberly street and rammed a car after passing through two yards.

Roxie Baker, 23, and Kerri J. Buchanan, 20, were killed Saturday in a two-car collision at a Kansas City intersection.

On Friday night, Nancy Hechinger, 16, and Carolyn Griesemauer, 17, both of O'Fallon, died in a two-car collision on Missouri 79 near Old Monroe and another two-car collision in Kansas City killed Stephen A. Keith, 36, Lowry City, and Martha Mae Peterson, 38, Osceola.

Other victims:

James Edward Langdon, 80, rural Campbell, whose car was struck Saturday by a locomotive at a Campbell crossing.

Mrs. Richard Leroy Green, 55, St. Louis, in a collision on U.S. 67 near Farmington Saturday.

Wheel theft foiled

PORTAGEVILLE — Thieves attempting to steal mag wheels at 12:10 a.m. today from a car belonging to Mike French at the corner of McArthur and Sixth Streets were apparently scared off. In their haste to leave, the thieves left two jacks and a handle for socket wrenches, according to police.

24 accident patients treated

Twenty- four accident patients were treated and released over the weekend in the emergency room of Missouri Delta Community Hospital.

13 arrested

Police today announced 13 arrests. They included Eugene George Smith Jr. of Benton Harbor, Mich., driving while intoxicated and no driver's license.

Glenn Franklin Clark, 112 School, peace disturbance; Walter Jones, of Brownville, Route One, driving while intoxicated; Ralph Edward Brany, of Benton, improper exhaust; James David Yancy, Route Two, speeding.

Archie Mike Dorris, Route Three, careless and imprudent driving; Steve A. Cantrell, 514 Tanner, careless and imprudent driving; Sherman Obannon Isbell of Morehouse, careless and imprudent driving.

Cars collide at intersection

Two cars collided in the intersection of West Malone Avenue and New Madrid Street at 7:55 p.m. Sunday. Police said the accident occurred when a car driven southbound on New Madrid by Elmer Dean Russell, 16, of 423 Edmondson, turned into the path of a car driven northbound on New Madrid by Robert Newton Pennington, 45 of 610 Vernon St. Police said there were no injuries or arrests.

Texas beauty crowned

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — One of the new Miss America's favorite people is television talk show host Johnny Carson. And it was visions of Carson that danced before her eyes as she was winning the title.

Shirley Cothran, the former Miss Texas, played a jazzy flute medley before a live crowd of 20,400 and a nationwide television audience Saturday night. Before going on stage, she recalled, "I thought, 'jeepers, Johnny Carson's probably watching me.'"

The 21-year-old guidance counsellor from Denton, Tex., cried when she was crowned just before midnight Saturday; cried at a ball later and resumed weeping Sunday morning at a brunch for all 50 contestants. Her predecessor, Rebecca Ann King of Colorado, shed no tears last year.

Sikeston scouting events scheduled

Brownie, Junior, Cadette and Senior girl scout leaders convened Wednesday at the Security Federal Savings and Loan Association community room for a meeting resided over by Mrs. Keith Duncan, Junior- Cadette- Senior neighborhood chairman, and Mrs. Fred Thornton, Brownie neighborhood chairman.

Mrs. Jim Robinson presented an investiture and rededication ceremony, in which leaders new to scouting received pins and experienced leaders and new leaders were made aware of the ideals, continuing satisfaction and fun of scouting.

A basic leadership training session for new leaders is scheduled from 10 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. Sept. 17 at First Christian Church.

On Sept. 24, a second basic leadership training session for new leaders and leaders changing levels will be held at First Christian Church from 10 a.m. to 2:30 p.m.

For leaders unable to attend the Sept. 24 session, a night training session is scheduled from 7 to 9:30 p.m. Oct. 10 at First Christian Church. Leaders who plan to attend the night session should register with their neighborhood chairmen.

A basic outdoor training meeting is scheduled at Camp Latonka Oct. 8.

The Cotton Carnival parade will begin at 10:30 a.m. Sept. 28. All Brownie and Junior troops will walk, and Cadette troops will walk or ride floats they have made. Troops will assemble at the corner of Woodlawn and Ranney streets, at 10 o'clock.

Girl Scout cookie sales will be conducted Nov. 12-23. Mrs. George Waters, 123 Terrace Drive, is Junior, Cadette and Senior cookie chairman, and the Brownie cookie chairman is Mrs. James Brock, 612 Holly Hill Drive. Troop leaders should supply their chairman the names of individual troop cookie chairmen.

Troops which plan to sell Girl Scout calendars should use the order form in the Scout Scope, and orders must be turned in by Oct. 1.

A Girl Scout uniform sale and exchange will be conducted beside the Rex Theatre building on Wednesday. Girls having uniforms they wish to sell or exchange should bring them to the exchange from 8 a.m. to noon, at which time the articles will be priced. Sales will be conducted from 3 to 5 p.m. the same day, Sept. 11.

Mrs. John Cowell presented information concerning the American Revolution Bicentennial Badge project, which will merit a special badge which can be earned over a three-year period. This is not a required badge. Two centennial patches, which may be worn of the uniform through 1976, can be purchased at J. C. Penney Co. or Buckner Ragsdale Co.

Mrs. Bill Lewis reported that 203 girls and 35 adults participated in the 1974 day camp and that plans are already underway for next year.

Miss Ilena Aslin, director of Cotton Boll Council, reported that approximately 500 girls from the Cotton Boll area attended the four sessions at Camp Latonka this summer. Of these girls, 104 were from the Sikeston area.

Miss Perkins, Wrather exchange wedding vows

PERKINS — Brenda Gail Jones of Perkins and James Allen Wrather of Portageville exchanged marriage vows at 7 p.m. Aug. 10 in the Missionary Baptist Church. The Rev. Bob Johnson, pastor, performed the double- ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd C. Jones of Perkins, and Wrather is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Odell Wrather of Oran.

The church podium was decorated with a large gold arch entwined with greenery and white, yellow and blue flowers. Dozens of blue-tipped carnations and long, light blue ribbons accented each side and center of the arch.

Two large baskets of blue-tipped carnations stood on either end of the arch. Two spiral gold candelabra adorned each side of the podium. Candles were placed on each side of the back of the altar and adorned the piano.

Miss Elaine Jackson of Morley provided piano music and Mrs. Bob Johnson of Scott City sang, "More," "Til the Twelfth of Never" and "The Lord's Prayer".

The bride, escorted down the aisle by her father, wore a formal gown of white peau de soie and Chantilly lace featuring a high neckline of lace and seed pearls. Lace motif accented the fitted bodice, and layers of scalloped lace were sewn down each side of the full skirt. Bishop sleeves underlined in silk featured lace inserts at the elbow and lace cuffs.

A lace and pearl Camelot cap held a triple- tiered waist-length veil. Each tier of her veil was edged in scalloped lace that matched the gown.

The bride carried a cascade of baby red roses, baby carnations, baby's breath, stephanotis and lilies of the valley. It was trimmed in lace and net with long white streamers that had two large red roses entwined.

They wore full- length, light blue, princess - style polyester and silk gowns accented with small white and blue flowers and underlined with blue silk. The gowns were styled with short puffed sleeves and high collars. A large bow matching headpiece of the same material as the dress held the three- tiered blue veil. Each carried long- stemmed red roses.

Laura Shoemaker of Perkins was flower girl. She wore a light blue long gown of polyester and silk, which had short puffed sleeves, high collar and full gathered skirt. White gloves completed the outfit. She carried a white basket with an assortment of flowers.

Shane Dirnberger, of Oran, nephew of the bride, was ringbearer. He carried a white heart- shaped pillow of satin, with long blue and white streamers, on which two gold wedding rings were attached.

Best man was Gary Kamber of St. Louis. Gregory Lynn Jones, the brother of the bride, was groomsmen.

Ushers were Glennon Dirnberger of Oran, brother-in - law of the bride, and Glenn Nothdruft of Gordonville, brother - in- law of the groom.

The men of the wedding party wore black tuxedos with velvet - pointed collars and white pleated shirts. A velvet stripe ran down the leg of the pants. The groom's boutonniere was a white carnation and lily of valley, and the attendants and father wore blue- tipped carnations. The ushers wore white carnations.

The bride's mother chose a long, dacron and polyester, princess- style dress of light blue with short sleeves. The outfit was completed with blue and white accessories.

The groom's mother wore a long, pale green, sleeveless dress of polyester with white accessories. Each mother wore a corsage of white carnations and baby red roses, baby's breath and lily of the valley.

A reception was held at 8 p.m. in the church dining room. White and blue pleated streamers and large and small wedding bells decorated the room and the bride's table and gift table.

The four- tiered layered cake featured swans on the pedestals separating the layers. Between one layer was a wedding ring shell case, which was opened and had two gold wedding bands inside. Another layer held four sugar wedding bells, centered with lace and net and lily of the valley and baby's breath.

Angels and lilies of the valley on a base of net and lace and greenery accented another layer. On the top layer was a large white archway with a miniature bride and groom inside. The cake was trimmed throughout with light blue and light red rose designs.

Also on the bride's table were crystal punch bowls and cups, mint and nut dishes.

Mrs. Shirley Shoemaker, Mrs. Kay Burlison and Miss Betty Jo Cook of Perkins served at the reception.

Following a trip to Pensacola and other cities in Florida, they are living in Dexter.

The new Mrs. Wrather attended Oran High School and was a 1972 graduate of Southeast Missouri State University in Cape Girardeau, graduating summa cum laude with a bachelor of arts degree in social science and history. She teaches high school social studies in the Bloomfield R-14 School District.

Wrather attended Oran High School and Central Methodist College in Fayette, where he received a bachelor of arts degree. In 1972, he received a master of science degree from Purdue University in Lafayette, Ind.

He is a research specialist in plant pathology at the University of Missouri Delta Research Center in Portageville.

Out- of - town guests included:

Joanne Newcomer, Carmalleen Newcomer, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Sharp and Steve and Gary and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sindle and boys of Bloomfield; Mr. and Mrs. Aubra Wrather, Mrs. Virginia Swilley and Mrs. Dorothy Callihan of Portageville.

Jones, Miss Jane Schott, James Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Ernie Jones and Brian Jones, Mrs. Elain Mays and Diana Mays, Ronnie Curtis and Ronnie Sindle of Oran.

Mrs. Rita Halford and Mr. and Mrs. Charley Jones of Painton; Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Ellis, Mrs. Wilma Luper, Mr. and Mrs. Steven Sindle and Mr. and Mrs. Jerry McCoy and daughter of Sikeston; Mr. and Mrs. Tim Coffman of Anna, Ill.; Mrs. Frances Sanders and Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Landewee and family of Chaffee; Mr. and Mrs. Ronnie Watkins of Morehouse.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Darby, Mr. and Mrs. Paul R. Cannon and Mr. and Mrs. Dean Johnson of Cape Girardeau; Mr. and Mrs. Stan Dustrer of Advance; Mr. and Mrs. Michael Hamm of Tampa, Fla.; Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Francis and Mr. and Mrs. Don Davis and children of Dexter; Mr. and Mrs. Preston Utterback and Joanie Wrather of New Madrid; Mr. and Mrs. Bob Johnson and children of Illmo- Scott City.

Mrs. Sylvester Nothdruft of Gordonville; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Jones and Pamela Jones of Bell City; Mr. and Mrs. Mike Wheeler, Jerry Sindle and Mr. and Mrs. James Roy Sindle of Morley; Mr. and Mrs. Steve Utterback of St. Clair; Mrs. Linda Rhein of Mountain Home, Ark.; Sue Wrather of Canalou; Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Bond of Delta; Mr. and Mrs. Richard Indingars of Boston, Mass.; and Mary and Sara Utterback and Mrs. Robert A. Utterback of Memphis, Tenn.

A miscellaneous shower was given for Miss Jones on July 21 by the Perkins Missionary Baptist Church and the Perkins Needle Club. A lingerie shower was given by Miss Gail Bumgardaner of Perkins at Missionary Baptist Church on Aug. 2.

A rehearsal dinner for the bridal party and special guests was given Aug. 9 by the groom's parents at their home. Helping to serve were Mrs. Susan Nothdruft, sister of the groom, and Mrs. Richard Utterback of Matthews, aunt of the groom.

At Wit's End

By Erma Bombeck

When I was younger, I used to faithfully watch a show called "Wagon Train." Week after week, a brave band of Americans faced hunger, disease, the blazing sun, the bitter cold, sorrow and disappointment in their drive westward.

Often I asked myself, "Why?" Today, I know why. Those poor devils were searching for the last picnic table.

They're still doing it. Oh, the wagons have turned to Winnebagos, the trail boss into Daddy, but the sun, the cold, the hunger, the consumption and the disappointment are still there.

Last Sunday, we had driven bumper to bumper for about five hours along a scenic route lined with campers, boats, kids and dogs all searching for a picnic table. I looked at the children. Their faces were white with dust, one was coughing from exhaust fumes, and the others stared silently with hollow vacant eyes out of the rear window.

"Please," I said touching my husband's arm gently, "let's turn back. We should never have left the city and come to this God- forsaken scenic route. It's not for myself that I'm begging to turn back, it's for the children. Look at them. They need fresh air to breathe...fresh fruit to eat...other children to run and play with...and schooling. Little Jodie will be ten in another week or so and he hasn't been to school yet."

"Just hang on a littler longer," said my husband. "Back at the last Stop 'N' Go, I heard a rumor there was a picnic table about eight miles down the road."

"Do you suppose it would have a shade tree nearby?" I asked.

"Don't get your hopes built up. It's just a rumor."

We bumped along for another five miles when my husband saw it. "Look! It's a picnic table."

Tears welled my eyes. "All right, children, get ready. The moment the car slows down, you all jump out and run over and throw your bodies across the table until we can park and get there."

They poised their bodies at the door ready to spring when panic set in. A silver airstream was racing for the same table from the opposite direction.

"There's also a four- wheel drive bearing down over the ridge," said my husband.

In a cloud of smoke, we all stopped and 12 or 15 children spilled out of the cars and flung themselves on the table. When the dust settled, we discovered we had all been too late. A dog was tied to the picnic table to stake it out for another picnicker.

The losers pulled their vehicles into a circle. It would be a long night.

Charleston couple married 50 years

CHARLESTON — Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Morris celebrated their golden wedding anniversary Sept. 1 at a reception in the fellowship hall at the Christian Church.

The reception was hosted by the couple's three children, Mrs. John (Ann Louise) Berna of Washington, D. C., Mrs. Tom (Kathleen) Lane of Crofton, Md., and Edwin H. Morris of Birmingham, Ala.

Mr. and Mrs. Morris were married by the Rev. W. T. Walker on Aug. 31, 1924 in Charleston at the home of Mrs. Morris' parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Moon.

Mrs. Larry Long and Miss Becky Thomason served the cake and punch, and Misses Nancy Hutson and Janet McMinn poured the coffee. Tammy and Christie Wyatt presided over the guest register. About 140 guests attended.

Mrs. Flowers honored upon retirement

Mrs. Robert Flowers, seated behind roses, was honored Aug. 31 upon retirement after five and one- half years as a teacher at the Child Development Center, 229 Westgate St. Staff personnel, female members of the executive board and members of Mrs. Flowers' family attended the dinner. She was presented a letter of appreciation from Lewis Blanton, vice president of the board, a bouquet of roses from the Flowers children and gifts from the staff. Honoring Mrs. Flowers, seated, from left, are Mrs. Sharon Brown, Mrs. Mildred Smith and Mrs. Inez Hunt, staff members, and Robert Flowers; Mrs. Joe Munger, center director; and Mrs. Warren Manning, board member. Standing, Mrs. Jesse Page, board member; Mrs. Shelia Hawkins, staff; Mrs. Chip Schmerbauch, Mrs. Vesta Ruffin, Mrs. Keith Collins, Mrs. Carl Popp and Mrs. Sue Marble, board members; Miss Mamie Flowers; and Miss Ruth Scott.

Bowhunters, get ready

While August weather is a long way from the crisp days of Fall normally associated with hunting, this is the month that most bowhunters start to think seriously about getting ready.

In fact, California bowbenders are already deer hunting (beginning July 6th) in the earliest season in the country. Utah and Colorado follow with mid- August openers drawing archers from all points of the national compass who head for the high western mountains in search of trophy mule deer.

The Missouri archery season opens Oct. 1.

With the National Field Archery Association Championships wrapping up in July, serious tournament competition is about over for the year, target bows are laid up and the hunting bows come off the racks. The "big sticks" as archers call them are readied for pre- season work outs as groups of bowhunters get together for stump shoots and tin can sessions to familiarize themselves once more with these heavier weapons.

"Working your muscles back into shape for that heavy bow should be done slowly" says Doug Kittredge a famed bowhunter who holds the world record for the largest mountain lion ever taken by an archer. "Don't overdo shooting sessions at first" cautions Kittredge, "just shoot for fifteen or twenty minutes a day for the first week or so, and pull the bow a few times in the morning before work, just for exercise".

George Wright, an eight year member of the Pen Pearson Bowhunting Advisory Staff suggests that bowhunters get away from shooting at targets. "I believe that we get too bullseye oriented" says Wright, "there's no spot on that big buck, just one you imagine."

Wright practices on an empty hay bale, just one bale which he states is close to being about the size of a big deer's body. His practice method revolves around putting one arrow in a very certain spot on the bale, shooting at an imaginary aiming point from all distances and positions. It pays off for George Wright who collects several trophy bucks a year in the western states.

John Lamicq, another Pearson Staff member who is a professional guide in Colorado feels that the most important practice element is to shoot a lot, with broadheads.

John shoots into old bales and does a lot of roving around the country of his native Colorado scouting out the game haunts. He takes his bow and shoots at spots in soft dirt banks, pine cones on grassy hillsides and similar marks. "I may wreck a Switchblade broadhead or two, but when the season rolls around I'm ready and I know where those blades are going to go."

That's good advice, seasoned bowhunters agree that broadheads have their own flight characteristics, nothing beats practice with the real thing.

"There are a lot of ways a bowhunter can practice" says Jim Dougherty, Director of the Ben Pearson Advisory Staff. "It really doesn't matter what he does as long as he gets out in plenty of time before the season and does it," each bowhunter will figure out whats best for him, doing it is the important thing when the time for that shot comes along."

Brock steals pair

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Fiery Wayne Garrett of the New York Mets figures he beat more than the St. Louis Cardinals with his 11th home run of the season Sunday.

After scuttling the Cards 5-3 with a three-run wallop in the eighth inning, the red-haired infielder passed along his compliments also to the plate umpire.

"He (John McSherry) called me out on the same pitch in the third inning," commented Garrett, who teed off on a 3-2 Lynn McGlothen delivery to cap a four-run Mets rally.

"And he would have called me out again if I hadn't swung," he declared. "It was a high curve up around my eyes. It wasn't a strike."

Garrett, whose drive dropped the Cards 2½ games behind the Pittsburgh Pirates in the National League East, said he was surprised to be facing McGlothen, 16-9.

"I was thinking about it," acknowledged Cards Manager Red Schoendienst, "but McGlothen was throwing good. He pitched bad the first few innings, then he pitched real well."

Overshadowed by a Mets burst snapping a 1-1 tie and a Cards six-game win streak was more spectacular base-running by Lou Brock, who swiped his 102nd and 103rd bases.

In drawing one from the major league record of 104 by Maury Wills, Brock also tied the NL career mark of 738 set by the Pirates' Max Carey in 1929.

"Outstanding pitchers do not have good moves," asserted Brock, who victimized the Mets' Tom Seaver in the first and eighth innings.

"Nobody's on base against them that much," he explained. "Who are they going to practice against?

"No, I can't get overly anxious to steal No. 104 and No. 105 to beat Wills," added Brock, whose thefts came in the Cards' 140th of 162 games.

"If I were to change my style and put a kind of emphasis on the record then I'd really be frustrated," he noted.

"Our top emphasis or priority right now has to be on winning ball games. And winning was something we didn't do today."

Seaver, 10-8, restricted the Cards to four hits through seven innings, then ignited the winning Mets burst with a single in the eighth.

He advanced on a sacrifice and Felix Millan flied out before Ed Kranepool followed a Cards conference at the mound with a tie-breaking hit and John Milner was purposely walked.

"Red just asked me whether I'd rather pitch to Kranepool or Milner," McGlothen, who afterward succumbed to the Garrett blast.

"I elected to with Kranepool," he added, "but I thought both the pitch to him and the one to Garrett were good pitches."

Rain and cold temperatures have driven many young doves from Missouri earlier than usual, but the birds still are around in good numbers, especially near silage cuts. The dove season runs until Oct. 30, with a daily limit of 10, possession limit of 20.

ENDICOTT, N.Y. (AP) — The B.C. Open Golf Tournament will offer a total purse of $175,000 next year, making it one of the best paying stops on the Professional Golf Association tour, officials say.

This summer's total purse was $150,000.

The winning pro in next year's tournament Aug. 29 through Sept. 1 will receive $35,000 prize money.

The B.C. Open takes its name from the comic strip "B.C.," whose creator, Johnny Hart, lives here.

TERRE HAUTE, Ind. (AP) — Bobby Olivero won a smoothly run U.S. Auto Club midget car 100-mile race Sunday.

Olivero took the lead with 20 laps to go and was never headed after that in the annual Hut Hundred at the Terre Haute Action Track.

Irish, not no. 1

ATLANTA (AP) "We're not the No. 1 team in the country right now," says Ara Parseghian, coach of Notre Dame's defending college football champions.

That's Parseghian's honest opinion as the Fighting Irish prepare to open their season tonight in a nationally televised game (ABC-TV, 9 p.m., EDT) against Georgia Tech. And the sports writers and broadcasters who vote in The Associated Press poll agree with him. They have the Irish ranked third behind Oklahoma and Ohio State.

There's just one small catch to Parseghian's assessment of his team.

"It's not significant to be No. 1 at this stage of the season," he says. "It's more of a handicap right now than an advantage. I'm not saying we won't be No. 1 at the end of the season. Our objectives are always the same — we'd like to go undefeated, we'd like to go to a bowl and we'd like to win the national championship. It's just going to be a lot more difficult this year."

Parseghian seemed to be sitting pretty following the 24-23 Sugar Bowl triumph over Alabama that nailed down the 1973 national crown. He expected 17 starters back to defend the title, but for one reason or another — injuries, accidents, university suspensions — five of them have been lost and three of their backup men also are sidelined.

Parseghian doesn't know too much about Georgia Tech, but neither does Pepper Rodgers, Tech's new coach. The Yellow Jackets will use the Wishbone offense, which helped Rodgers mold an awesome rushing attack at UCLA.

In Saturday's action, UCLA and Tennessee battled to a 1717 tie. The Bruins, ranked 12th, had a shot at winning in the final 14 seconds but Brett White's 40-yard field goal attempt went wide.

Quarterback Condredge Holloway got the 16th-ranked Vols on the scoreboard in the first quarter, connecting with Stanley Morgan on a 74-yard touchdown pass play on the second play of the game. Bruins quarterback John Sciarra ran and passed UCLA into the lead in the final period, but Holloway led Tennessee 80 yards for the tying TD, capping the drive with a 12-yard run.

Dave Buckey threw for two touchdowns and ran for a third as No. 18 North Carolina State piled up 30 points over the final two quarters to whip Wake Forest 33-15. The Wolfpack gained 265 yards rushing while holding the Deacons to just 46.

No. 15 Arizona State upset No. 11 Houston 30-9 with sophomore Freddie Williams racing 69 yards for one touchdown and going four yards for another.

In other top games, Syracuse downed Oregon State 23-15. Tailback Ken Kinsey gained 169 yards on 38 carries for Syracuse.

New Mexico State shaded Wichita State 13-12 with Jim Germany running for 118 yards on 28 carries.

Tampa shut out Tennessee-Chatanooga 28-0 as Freddie Solomon scored two touchdowns and passed for another.

The Tulane-Mississippi game in New Orleans was postponed due to Hurricane Carmen. It will be rescheduled.

State has third world fish mark

JEFFERSON CITY-- Missouri now has its third official world record fish, the second this year.

A two pound, two ounce green sunfish, caught June 20, 1971, by Paul Dilley, Springfield, has been recognized as a rod and reel world mark by Field and Stream magazine, the keeper of world records.

A month earlier, a 40-pound bigmouth buffalo, grabbed from Current River by Lovel Hall, Doniphan, was recognized by the magazine as a "caught by any method" world mark. Missouri also holds the world "caught by any method" blue catfish record of 117 pounds.

That fish was caught in 1964 on a trotline by Anzel Goans and sons of Lowry City.

Dilley took his green sunfish from Stockton Lake at noon, using worms for bait and, though it was immediately recognized as a state record, it wasn't given much thought beyond that.

But when Field and Stream listed the world green sunfish mark at two pounds in February, 1974, Joel Vance, Department of Conservation keeper of state records, wrote the magazine submitting both Hall's buffalo and Dilley's sunfish.

The Missouri listed rock bass (goggle- eye) state record also is larger than the listed world record, but the Missouri fish which weighed 2:12, was not authenticated when it was caught in 1968 by William Rod, Kirkwood, from Big Piney River.

Records existing when the record requirements were stiffened to include authentication were retained, but most have been beaten by completely documented fish.

The magazine wouldn't accept any fish records that weren't authenticated by the state. But the rock bass mark is one that could be claimed by a Missourian in the future.

Another vulnerable world mark is the flathead catfish one. Missouri has had two trotline records larger than the existing 76 pound rod and reel record. The world white bass mark is five pounds, five ounces and the present Missouri record is five pounds, two ounces.

There easily could be a world record carp swimming in Missouri waters. The world mark is 55:05 and the present Missouri mark is 47:07.

Carmen sputters out, leaving 2 dead, ravaged sugar crop

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Hurricane Carmen has sputtered out and dispersed over Louisiana and Texas after leaving two dead and ravaging the Louisiana sugar cane crop. But the storm did far less damage than officials had feared.

Authorities said about 14,000 refugees remained in evacuation centers early today. But thousands of others returned home as the storm disintegrated after missing the state's major population centers.

Carmen, packing winds gusting up to 180 miles per hour, had been heading straight north for New Orleans. But it stalled for five anxious hours early Sunday, then veered westward through marshland and hit Lafayette about dawn.

It was downgraded to a tropical storm soon afterward.

A lineman for Central Louisiana Electric Co. was found on Sunday hanging in downed power lines. The other victim died in a storm-related traffic accident.

Much of the state's sugar cane crop lay in Carmen's path.

Gov. Edwin W. Edwards, who toured the state by airplane Sunday, estimated that 75 per cent of the crop was destroyed at a cost of $100 million. Gilbert Durbin, vice president and general manager of the American Sugar Cane League, gave the same $100 million estimate, but said it represented only 20 per cent of the total crop. The disparity was not explained.

The governor added: "The damage to the sugar cane appears to be the only significant damage resulting from the hurricane."

Edwards said he would not request President Ford to declare the state a disaster area immediately. He said a study would be made to find the best kind of aid to ask for farmers who suffered losses.

After raking the coastal towns of Abbeville and Franklin with winds of 135 m.p.h., Carmen came ashore near Avery Island.

Several store fronts were sucked out and huge oak trees were blown across roads in Franklin, where winds near the eye were clocked at 80 to 100 m.p.h. But rows of antebellum mansions remained standing.

Carmen pushed inland toward Lafayette, where parish civil defense officials said more than 25,000 people had been evacuated — most of them as the hurricane stalled offshore and drifted westward.

Officials reported property damage but no serious injuries.

Teacher retirement to be topic

CAPE GIRARDEAU-- The Southeast Missouri State University Community Teachers Association will sponsor a program concerning retirement at 7 p.m. Thursday in the Little Theatre at Kent Library on the campus.

David Mustoe, a staff member of the Public School Retirement System of Missouri, will speak about retirement benefits and proposed legislation and provide general information pertaining to the retirement system.

On Friday, Mustoe will be in the dining room of Memorial Hall for personal consultations.

If an appointment with him is desired, he may be reached by phone at 334- 8211, Ext. 234.

The program is sponsored as a service to all teachers in the Cape Girardeau area as well as to the university faculty.

Sharp Citizen editor in jail

CORNING, Ark. (AP) — Joseph H. Weston of Cave City, controversial editor of the Sharp Citizen newspaper, was returned to jail Thursday under $7,500 bond after being convicted of criminal libel.

Weston, an unsuccessful candidate for the Republican nomination for governor, was sentenced to three months imprisonment and fined $4,000.

A jury of nine men and three women returned the verdict in the one-day trial after less than one hour of deliberation.

Weston was convicted in connection with an article in his weekly newspaper last Nov. 30 that made certain allegations against Sheriff Lidell Jones of Clay County and his deputies.

Weston, 62, has said he plans to run as a write- in candidate for governor.

Weston's lawyers said they would appeal the conviction to the Arkansas Supreme Court. They asked that Weston's $3,000 appearance bond be continued, but Judge A. S. "Todd" Harrison of Clay County Circuit Court refused.

Sheriff Jones said he would give Weston a day or two to post bond before transferring Weston to Cummins Prison Farm.

Reporters were not allowed to talk with Weston once he was in jail.

Sikestonians chosen as Outstanding Young Men

Three Sikeston men and one former Sikeston resident have been chosen as Outstanding Young Men of America for 1974.

They are George Weber Gilmore Jr., 106 Ruth St.; Philip Wayne Boyer, David Drive, and Steven Lee Taylor, 801 Vernon St.

Also named from Southeast Missouri were Henry Tilman Newman of Hayti Route Two and Michael Leroy Jensen of Cape Girardeau, a former Sikeston resident.

Outstanding Young Men of America is an annual biographical compilation sponsored by leading men's civic, service and professional organizations. The awards volume features the accomplishments of approximately 6,300 young men of exceptional abilities and achievements from across the country.

Criteria for inclusion in Outstanding Young Men of America are service to others, professional excellence, business advancement, charitable activities and civic and professional recognition. The young men chosen for this distinction are between the ages of 21 and 35.

Air Force Lt. Gen. Alvan C. Gillem II, author of an introductory message to the 1973 edition of the awards volume said, "the young men in this book are .. men to whom, 'duty, honor, country' is not a corny and outmoded catch phrase. Their track record to date stamps them as potentially the 'best of the best'. Men with an appreciation for combining their own drive and ability with the wisdom and experience of their elders in working to make this country ... America the beautiful."

Nominations for the awards publication are made by civic organizations, Jaycee chapters, college alumni associations and military commandants.

The 1974 edition of Outstanding Young Men of America is scheduled for publication and national distribution in November.

Today in U. S. History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Monday, Sept. 9, the 252nd day of 1974. There are 113 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1776, the term "United States" became official in a ruling of the 2nd Continental Congress.

On this date —

In 1830, Charles Durant made early aviation history by flying in a balloon from New York City across the Hudson River to Perth Amboy, N.J.

In 1850, California was admitted into the Union as the 31st state.

In 1893, for the first time in the history of the United States, a child was born to the first lady in the White House. Mrs. Grover Cleveland became the mother of a baby girl.

In 1919, Boston police went on strike and Massachusetts Gov. Calvin Coolidge ruled they would not be permitted to return to their jobs on grounds they had no right to strike and endanger the public safety.

In 1926, the National Broadcasting Co. was formed in New York City as a service of the Radio Corp. of America.

In 1946, the formal surrender of about one million Japanese soldiers in China took place in Nanking.

Ten years ago: The Chrysler Corp. and the Auto Workers Union reached agreement on a new contract which set a pattern for the auto industry for a three-year period.

Eye exercises can help vision

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — Are eye exercises harmful to the eyes or do they improve vision?

DEAR READER — If used properly they are usually good for vision. Any form of exercises need to be planned for a specific goal. Your eyes have a set of muscles attached to the eyeball that enable them to move in all those different directions, including rolling your eyes. If a muscle is weak and it affects your vision, the right exercises can strengthen it and improve vision.

Now, let me point out that if you do exercises that strengthen the wrong muscle and do not strengthen the weak muscle, then you may make matters worse. It is similar to the problem of developing muscles to hold your shoulders back. If you do exercises that strengthen the muscles that pull your shoulders forward the exercises will make matters worse. So, exercise of the body or the eyes must be done properly to be helpful. It follows a do-it-yourself project without an examination and the advice of your doctor may be more harmful than useful.

DEAR DR. LAMB — In one of your columns you dealt with the effect of inhaling carbon monoxide pollution created by smoking on nonsmokers. Can you please advise me where I can get a pamphlet or information as to who did this research? A friend disbelieves the validity of the harm it can do to the nonsmoker.

DEAR READER — Glad to oblige. A study on the blood levels of carbon monoxide in nonsmokers confined to a room with smokers was carried out by researchers at St. Bartholomew's Hospital in London. The report was published in Lancet, a British medical journal, the last week of March 1973. There are also other studies that show the level of carbon monoxide in smoke-filled rooms often exceeds the level safe for industry.

In the United States, Modern Medicine, a journal for doctors, published the position of the American College of Chest Physicians in its December 25, 1972 issue. The college believes the smoker should be separated from the non-smoker and has done so for all its state and national meetings. When the ventilation is not adequate, the smoker is "banished" from the meeting hall entirely.

In a statement of rights for nonsmokers the college stated:

"The American College of Chest Physicians believes that cigarette smoking not only is hazardous to the health of the individual who smokes but also is hazardous to the health of the individual who does NOT smoke, but who inhales the hazardous constituents in the air produced by the smoker."

"The College believes that the smoker, although maintaining his right to choose to smoke, should consider his obligation to society by not infringing on the rights of the nonsmoker."

In my opinion smoking should be outlawed in all public places and in all public transportation. Surely one of the basic rights of all human beings is not to be poisoned by the unnecessary habits of others.

Send your questions to Dr. Lamb, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019.

Ann Landers

Ann writes from China

Your Problem Girl is in China as a member of the American Medical Association's delegation. There is so much to tell, I could become a crashing bore on the subject. But I'd like to share some insights about the human side of these incredible people.

Do the Chinese like Americans? Indeed they do! One need only say to a stranger on the street, "Nee how!" (How are you?) and he gets a big smile and an extended hand. The Chinese love to "press the flesh." They are eager to demonstrate their friendship with a warm handshake. But don't try to give a child a coin or an adult a cigaret. They will politely refuse. (What a welcome contrast to Hong Kong, where begging on the street by the very young, the elderly and the handicapped is commonplace.)

What are the cities like? Well, it depends. Shanghai is as different from Peking as Las Vegas is from Boston. There are no night clubs in China. Gambling is illegal, yet every night in Shanghai we saw dozens of small groups huddled under dim street lights playing cards or checkers. We saw no money change hands but they seemed to be enjoying themselves immensely. Entertainment, however, comes cheap. For a dime you can see the Chinese acrobats perform (they are fabulous), watch a boxing match, ping-pong game or go to a movie. (The films are pure propaganda, no love stories.) When Dr. John Chanault of Decatur, Ala., asked, "What can a visitor do in your country for an evening?" He was told, "He can go to bed early and get a good night's sleep."

A great many Chinese smoke cigarets and no one asks if you mind. I inquired of a chain- smoking Chinese doctor if he had heard of our Surgeon General's report. He replied, "Yes, but we do not believe it contains any conclusive evidence." (Cancer is the second biggest killer in China, after heart disease.)

At formal dinners (where the men wear no ties or coats) there is frequent "toasting" with mah-tai. Dr. Don Wood, internist from Indianapolis, described it as "rocket fuel." I substituted with orange pop which showed up at every meal, even breakfast. If I never see another bottle of orange pop it will be too soon. The same goes for overstuffed arm chairs with antimacassars (lace doilies).

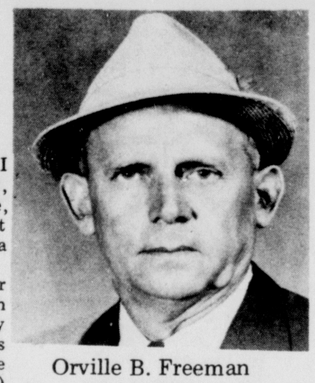
There are no Jews in The People's Republic. "They were here, mostly physicians and merchants," I was told. "But when Mao came in, the Jews left. Some went to Israel, others to America, but most of them went to Hong Kong and Canada."

Also conspicuous by their absence were blacks. When I inquired, "Why?" I was told, "There are many blacks here, mostly from America." I kept looking, but I never saw a single one.

Every member of our delegation was delighted with the variety, artistry and quality of the food. It was magnificent! (P.S. It isn't true that you're hungry in an hour!) The tea was superb, but difficult to cope with because they serve it with the leaves floating around. You need a hole in your tooth to drink it. We were pleasantly surprised by the modern, air-conditioned trains, but appalled by the archaic plumbing (Ming Dynasty, no doubt), even in the best hotels.

Chinese women have no interest in style. They wear no makeup and no jewelry, except the standard stainless steel wrist watch. When I saw no wedding rings I asked why. The reply: "Wedding rings have not been worn here since the Revolution in 1949." "How then," I inquired, "can a person tell if a woman is available for marriage?" The answer caused a roar of laughter. A Chinese physician replied, "It is impossible to tell from the outside."

I asked a young interpreter what impressed him as most unusual about the visitors he had met from our country. His response was beautiful. "All you Americans look alike."



Orville B. Freeman

Freeman reaches 25 years with highway dept.

JEFFERSON CITY— Orville B. Freeman of Oran was recently honored by the Missouri State Highway Department for having completed 25 years of employment with the department.

Freeman began employment with the department as a laborer.

In 1957 he was promoted to maintenanceman 1, the position he currently holds in District 10, based at Sikeston.

Dates set for interviews on SeMo campus

CAPE GIRARDEAU — A schedule of dates for employers who wish to interview on the Southeast Missouri State University campus during the 1974-75 academic year has been announced by Ronald E. King, university placement director.

In making the announcement, King said he would particularly like to encourage smaller employers to visit the campus in their search for qualified personnel and to contact the university's placement office anytime they have a need for a college graduate.

"We're a service office for employers, large or small," he said.

Interview dates for the fall semester are Oct. 1-23 and 28-31; Nov. 1-26; and Dec. 2-13 Spring semester dates are Jan. 16-31; Feb. 1-28; March 1-6 and 18-26; April 1-30; and May 1-9.

King said every effort will be made to accommodate interviewers, but arrangements should be made three or four weeks in advance, if possible.

He said the placement office can offer, among other things, credential packets on each candidate for a position and a prepared schedule for the interviewer with the name of each candidate and the time of his interview.

Interviews are normally a half hour in length and are conducted between 9 a.m. and 4:30 p.m., but King said the arrangements can be varied somewhat to meet the needs of the interviewers.

HOUSTON (AP) — When Carol Miller of Waukesha, Wis., and Jane Leszczynski of Milwaukee won the 1974 WIBC doubles bowling championship with 1313 pins. They were just two pins off the tournament record. The mark of 1315 was set by Judy and Gloria Bouvia of Portland, Ore., in 1969.

Mrs. Leszczynski rolled 674 on games of 196, 234 and 244. Mrs. Miller had a 639 total on games of 222, 255 and 162. It was Mrs. Miller's second WIBC crown. A physical education teacher, she won the 1967 All-Events title.

What's the law?

The case of the patient spouse

By JACK STRAUSS, LL.B.

Nevertheless, Charley's patient wife waited hopefully for her husband's ultimate return.

With her patience unrewarded, Charley's wife finally applied for benefits under the social security law on the grounds that after seven years of "unexplained" absence, her husband's death was presumed.

"Your husband's absence isn't unexplained," she was told. "Obviously, he's in limbo somewhere with that bimbo he ran away with."

"That's possible," responded Charley's wife. "But, in 13 years, neither I, his parents nor any of our children have heard from him. What's more, not even government agencies have been able to find him. Consequently, if he's not dead, he certainly should be!"

Whereupon, Charley's wife took her claim for social security benefits to court.

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you grant social security benefits to Charley's patient spouse?

This is how the judge ruled: YES! The judge held that despite the fact that Charley had taken off with his curvaceous neighbor, reason dictates that in 13 years he would have contacted his wife, children or parents if he was alive. And, concluded the judge, since extensive search and inquiry has failed to turn him up. Charley's absence being unexplained for seven years, he's properly presumed dead.

(Based upon a 1965 United States District Court Decision)

Maid of Cotton applications sought

Naming of the cotton industry's official goodwill ambassador will climax two days of planned activities here Dec. 29 and 30. Twenty finalists will participate in the selection, including 16 chosen on the basis of applications and four named earlier as state or regional winners.

Now in its 37th year, the selection is open to young women between 19 and 23 years old who were born in a cotton- producing state or who have maintained legal residence in the Cotton Belt since age seven or earlier. Applicants also must be at least 5 feet 5 inches tall and never have been married.

The 1975 maid, who will succeed Kathy Raskin of Litchfield Park, Ariz., will make a series of public appearances in this country, Canada and overseas. Her domestic tour will include visits to Washington and other major cities, where she will participate in activities designed to increase public understanding of the cotton industry's contributions to the nation. Plans also call for fashion shows and appearances in Europe and possibly other areas.

Her first official activity will come on New Year's Day at the Cotton Bowl Festival in Dallas, where she will be a featured guest. Following completion of her international tour next summer, she will return here to receive a new automobile as a gift from dealers in the five- state Memphis Ford District.

Application forms for entering the selection may be obtained from the council, 1918 N. Parkway, Memphis, Tenn., 38112. Deadline for submitting completed applications and required photographs is Dec. 1.

AM I CRAZY?
I must be crazy!

I spend thousands of dollars of my firm money, running ads for ambitious, adventurous people and I can't seem to find one good person interested in $15,000 to $20,000 his first year.

If you are not and want a really great opportunity with an international company, CALL ME NOW before I am carted off to the funny farm!

We offer a career opportunity worthy of a real salesman and will prove it to you at your interview.

We manufacture and market a line of industrial maintenance-chemicals used throughout the business world. Sales are booming and so are our salesmens earnings. High commissions are paid monthly with excellent weekly draws. Benefits include profit sharing, hospitalization, major medical, plus a year end bonus.

We want a person who has successfully sold tangibles or is confident in his desire to do so. An aggressive representative who can build lasting associations with customers through return visits, while pressing for an order on each call.

You should have a stable personal and job background and own a late model car.
Meet my challenge and help me prove my sanity.

Thieves choose bad automobile

BLOOMFIELD— The Stoddard County sheriff's department is investigating the theft of an automobile Saturday night from Hood Motor Sales on Highway 25 in Bloomfield.

Sheriff Ralph Mouser said the thieves apparently chose a bad automobile, since it ran only a short distance and stopped near Scism Motor Co., where he said the thieves took a tape player which also was broken.

Thieves also took a small amount of change from Clark- Ford Tractor Sales located east of Bloomfield sometime Saturday night. Mouser said the thieves attempted to break into the soft drink machine but were unsuccessful.

Mathis fined $208 for DWI

CHARLESTON — Ten persons, arrested over the week-end, appeared in city court this morning.

A $208 fine was paid by Robert Mathis if Sikeston on a second offense of driving while intoxicated. John Henry Bell of Charleston paid a $28 fine on a disturbing the peace charge.

Paying fines of $10 each on speeding charges were Edward Owens Jr., James Robinson, and Diane Chandler of Charleston and Frank Shoffner and James Moss of East Prairie.

Fines of $11 each were paid by Gera[illegible] Mungle and Billy Jarrett of Charleston on speeding charges and Jerry Lynn Morehead of Ark. paid a $13 fine for speeding.

Mary Rita Wilson of East Prairie forfeited a $50 bond Saturday posted on a shoplifting charge. Careless and imprudent driving charges brought $17 fines each on Saturday to Houston Bradford Cannon and Jonathon Hall of Charleston.

Youth charged with stealing

CHARLESTON-- A charge of stealing over $50 was filed today against James Harrison Russell, 17, of East Prairie Route Two, following his arrest about 2:30 p.m. Sunday by Sheriff W. J. "Pedro" Simmons.

The youth, who is being held in Mississippi County jail, is accused of stealing a go- kart, property of the Leslie Armstrong family of East Prairie on Sept. 6.

Russell will appear Thursday in Magistrate Court.

Perkins rest home receives state license

JEFFERSON CITY-- The Briarwood Rest Home, operated by Mr. and Mrs. Harold Probst in Perkins, is the first boarding house for the aged to be licensed in Scott County by the Missouri Division of Health. The home can accommodate 18 residents and is one of 190 boarding houses in the state that have been licensed.

Missouri has enacted its first legislation requiring licensure of boarding houses which keep three or more persons over 60 years of age. Local legislation concerning operation is most important since the state Division of Health cannot license any home which does not meet all local ordinances pertaining to boarding house operation.

"Boarding houses are not to be confused with nursing homes," Mrs. Esther Hill, director of the Bureau of Boarding House Licensure, emphasized. Boarding houses are for persons who desire a home but are able to care for themselves and have no need for nursing care or supervision. This has made it necessary to transfer some persons from boarding houses for other care.

The licensed boarding house can legally provide only room, board and laundry. This type of living situation is a newly recognized level of care which is between that of the private residence and the licensed nursing home.

Burglars get $515 worth of belongings

William Jenkins reported to Sikeston police that burglars took $515 worth of personal belongings from his home on Gladys Street between 8 p.m. Friday and 10 a.m. Saturday.

Taken, according to Jenkins, were 40 tapes valued at $250; a 22- caliber rifle, $25; a projector, $60; and a black and white television set valued at $180.

Entry apparently was gained to the home by prying open a door.

Mark Couch, 402 Carroll Ave., told police a tape player was taken from his car between 1:45 and 5:30 p.m. Saturday while the car was parked in the Merchants Parking Lot on Center Street. The player was valued at $79.

Charlie Scudder, 104 Cardinal Drive, told police today that a 12- volt batter was taken from his pickup truck between 4 p.m. Sunday and 7 a.m. today.

The truck was parked near the home when the theft occurred.

Sabot injured while hunting

Police said Sabot was shot while dove hunting in New Madrid County on the G. B. Greer farm Saturday. The shotgun blast which struck him was fired by his hunting companion, Ricky Robertson, 15. Police said the weapon was a 12-gauge shotgun.

His wounds were listed as minor, and he was released following treatment.

of Thursday's subcommittee meeting.

Also necessary for application to the DOT is a detailed informative report of each county and a joint report combining facts about the two counties. Information for these reports is being gathered by Robert B. Hendrix, executive vice president of the Cape Girardeau Chamber of Commerce.

Seier pointed out that although it is necessary for each county to appoint a county port authority, its members would become inactive once the Southeast Missouri Regional Port Authority is appointed. He said there would be nothing prohibiting appointment of the county port authority members to the district port authority. The joint agreement also could be amended to allow other counties to become members of the port district, he observed.

It was noted that the decision by the DOT whether to allow formation of a Southeast Missouri District Port Authority would rely heavily upon a U. S. Army Corps of Engineers feasibility study which would be conducted following the formal application.

The application would also be subject to a public hearing like that scheduled for Tuesday in St. Louis on a St. Charles County application. Authority advisory committee members from Cape and Scott counties plan to attend that hearing and to visit port districts in Memphis and Greenville, Miss., for information.

Office closed

NEW MADRID — The state license fee office in the courthouse is closed temporarily, due to the illness of Mrs. Ann Masterson, agent.

Arrangements to reopen the office are expected to be made soon by the State Department of Revenue, Bureau of Motor Vehicles.

three miles north of Highway 60 in Butler County by a car driven by Murry Bartlett, 39, of Cicero, Ill.

Suffering minor injuries as he and a companion were running north in the southbound lane was Edmund Carmack, 16, of Poplar Bluff.

The accident occurred as Bartlett was passing another vehicle, saw Carmack, applied his brakes and bumped Carmack as the car skidded to a stop.

He was taken to Lucy Lee Hospital in Poplar Bluff.

Gary Martin, 23, of Kennett received minor injuries at 5 a.m. Sunday on Route K one- half mile east of Bragg City when the car he was driving west ran off the road into a ditch at a high rate of speed.

He was taken to the Dunklin County hospital.

Vance Leffel, 59, of Dexter suffered minor injuries at 6 p.m. Sunday on a gravel road three miles north of Dexter when his eastbound pickup truck ran off the road and struck a tree.

He was taken to Dexter Memorial Hospital.
